SERVING ON JURY HURTS BUSINESS

"Drawn Too Often," Complain Prominent Atlantans.

Real Estate Dealer Declares He Has Had to Serve 68 Days in the Last Six Months.

With over 6,200 names in the box from which the petit jurors are drawn, numbers of Atlanta business men are complaining that more than their share of time is being taken up by courts for jury work, and one man, R. R. Otis, a prominent real estate dealer, states that during the past six months he has had to give sixty-eight days to jury duty.

From all of these men comes the dual complaint that summons to the jury box seem to come at the very time that business is most pressing, and that they do not know what are their rights as a citizen to escape this duty when it comes at a time to cause them to lose a sale or fail to attend to important affairs.

By the present system there are four distinct jury lists, and the names are drawn out from them for the different courts. One box contains names of veniremen for the superior court, another those for the city criminal court, a third for the civil division of the city court and another box from which are drawn the grand jury.

Lists Made Up Every Two Years.

These jury lists are made up every two years from the list of registered voters, and only about 1,000 names are put in the list of possible grand jurors. The veniremen are picked by a special commission appointed by a superior court judge to serve for two years, and they are supposed to be selected from the most upright and capable of the registered voters of the county.

From the number of names in the petit jury box it appears that a man would not be called upon to serve more than once or twice in two years, but as each man's name is in at least three boxes and 1,000 of the petit jurors are also on the grand jury list, a man may be chosen four times within one two-year period. In fact, cases have occurred where one man would be selected as a veniremen in two courts during the same week.

Mr. Otis states that his jury duty consisted of sixty-one days in the state and county courts and seven days in the federal courts. Of course, as these courts have no connection with each other he does not expect to have his name left off one because of previous service in the other, but he makes the suggestion that the fact that a man has already done jury duty during the year in one division of the state courts should be an acceptable excuse when he is called another time in another division.

His Business Suffered.

"I did not have to perform sixty-one days of actual work on the jury in the state courts last year," says Mr. Otis, "but for that time I was subject to jury duty, having been served with notice to appear, and I could not leave town and did not feel like making an important engagement with a business man, knowing that any moment I might have to break it.

"On one occasion I had prepared to leave for New York on Sunday afternoon to fill an engagement there Monday afternoon. Late Saturday afternoon, in fact, about 6o'clock, I was served with notice to appear on Monday. It was too late for me to get excused, if I could have made that an excuse, and so had to appear in court Monday and miss my engagement in New York.

"Another time during the year jury duty called me on the very day that a business man came from Jacksonville to see me, and I got tied up on a case and did not get off until after 6 o'clock."

"I do not hesitate one moment to do my share of work in the jury box," he added, "but I would feel much more like doing it if a legitimate business reason for getting excused at times were accepted by the courts."

Nunnally Was Fined.

Another notable case that came up recently was that of Charles T. Nunnally, one of Atlanta's wealthiest manufacturers. He was on the grand jury and had met with them for several days. They had finished most of their work and would not meet again for several days. A sudden call to New York to close a business deal that probably meant thousands of dollars to him made him forget all about jury work, and he left without obtaining permission.

By this he missed a session or more of the grand jury meeting, and on his return found himself arrested and haled into court with a contempt charge facing him.

There are only two certain ways by which a man may escape jury duty on all occasions. One is to purchase a military exemption and the other is not to return taxable property. By the latter method a man would soon

SAY RIVERA DECEIVED GIRL THROUGH MOCK MARRIAGE

Young Porto Rican Student Held in Atlanta on Serious Charge.

Behind the arrest in Atlanta Monday night of Castro Rivera, son of a wealthy sugar planter of Ensenarda, Porto Rico, lies a tragic story of the betrayal of a 16-year-old girl, through a mock marriage and desertion after two children had been born of the alliance, according to the charges made by government officers in Washington.

When Rivera was a student at the George Washington university medical college in Washington he met Miss Mary Easterday and after a brief acquaintance suggested an elopement to Baltimore, where a mock marriage was performed, it is alleged, a foreigner who was a friend of Rivera posing as the minister. The young woman continued to live with her mother, who clerks in a Washington store, but Rivera paid her board. Later when he went to Baltimore to take a year's course at the University of Maryland he came over every Friday afternoon to see his "wife" and she made frequent trips to Baltimore to see him.

Last June he told her he was going to take her to visit his parents in Porto Rico, but then disappeared. The police say he left with another woman, whom he introduced to his parents as his wife, and she was well received by them until her true character was discovered, when she was shipped back to the states and Rivera followed.

When she realized she had been deserted, Miss Esterday, or Mrs. Rivera, as she called herself, sought to have Rivera indicted for non-support. She was prostrated when informed that she had been tricked by the man she loved. She locked herself in her room with her two children and for days refused to see any one. Her mother, who is employed in an F street store, feared that her daughter, who suffered a nervous breakdown, might attempt to harm herself, and she was closely watched for weeks.

On September 30 last Rivera was indicted by the grand jury on a serious charge. Detectives Baur and Cornwell located him in Cuba, but there was no way by which he could be extradicted on the charge to this country. The next heard of him he had returned to the states.

The detectives kept on his trail, but Rivera managed always to keep just ahead of them. A few days ago it was learned that he was in Atlanta, and on information furnished by the detectives here, he was arrested.

Rivera lived in Atlanta at a boarding house on Walton stret. He was attending a medical college here. He is held on the charge of seduction.

To a Constitution reporter he declared he had nothing to say.

"VICE SQUAD" MEN MAKE QUICK EXIT

Frightened by Intrusion, Women Dash Into Street, Clad in Night Clothes.

Two men, whom a nearby resident recognized as members of Chief Beavers' "vice squad," got themselves so seriously "in bad" yesterday morning about 1:30 o'clock that they not only narrowly escaped an abundant load of birdshot, but, in making their escape caused a severe accident to Mrs. Lorraine Rountree, of 104 Luckie street.

The names of the men are not known. The affair has not yet been reported at police headquarters. Chief Beavers' attention, however, will be called to the happening this afternoon by Mrs. Rountree.

Mrs. Rountree, who operates a boarding house at No. 104, had retired with her guest, Blanche Miniclier, of Detroit, about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. They had entertained a number of the boarders in the parlor until far after midnight.

Women Badly Frightened.

Barely had they crawled into bed, than there came a slight tapping upon a window fronting the veranda on the Luckie street side. Mrs. Rountree lay quiet, awaiting for a repetition of the noise and to determine whether some one was at the window, or if it was only the wind.

The sound came again, louder than before. Mrs. Rountree called out:

"Who's there?"

There was no answer. The tapping continued. She called to the Miniclier girl, who is only 18 years old, and said they would have to get out of the room, as there were hurglars at the window.

As Mrs. Rountree and her guest jumped from bed she heard the front door open and footsteps sound upon the carpet in the hallway. Too frightened to scream, she jerked open the door and started to run out of the room.

Flashlights Blind Women.

As the door was opened two blinding flashlights were flared into the faces of the two women. Mrs. Rountree yelled hysterically and darted toward the front door. The girl followed behind her, screaming at the height of her voice.

"Good Lord!" the boarding housekeeper says one of the intruders exclaimed as she opened the door.

The two men, according to Mrs. Rountree, flashed their lights into the rear of the hall and ran swiftly through to the side entrance. She and Miss Miniclier ran to the porch and down the steps. Mrs. Rountree tried to jump down the eight steps in a bound, so frightened she was, and landed in a heap upon the ground.

She sustained a sprained ankle and many cuts and bruises. She and Miss Miniclier were clad only in their night clothes. They ran, screaming, across the street and tried to enter a drug store that had been closed several hours previously. For fully fifteen

ATLANTA MAY HAVE FREE BATHS SOON

But You Will Have to Pay for Rent of Towels and of Soap.

Charles L. Branan, recently appointed by Mayor Woodward as a member of the park board, launched a movement for free baths in Atlanta at the meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. No action was taken, but the members of the board declared that they were impressed with the project, and if it can be worked out the scheme will be presented to council.

According to the tentative plan outlined by Commissioner Branan, it is proposed to erect a bath house in the central portion of the city for whites. The plan has been worked out successfully in nearly every city in the United States, and has been indorsed by the leading health authorities as one of the best health improvements that can be devised.

It has been suggested that the revenue derived from the rental of towels and soap would almost be sufficient to maintain such a place.

Will Give Bath Houses.

The board received a proposal from J. Billett, lessee of the bathing privileges at Lakewood, to turn over the bath houses to the city for the remainder of the time of his lease. The matter was referred to the improvement committee.

The park board is going ahead with the improvements outlined before the first of January, and President Cochran advised the board that he had authorized the hiring of teams for the necessary work in the parks. He said that Mayor Woodward assured him that he would sign all checks and vouchers drawn by the park department.

A delegation from Georgia avenue asked the board to take down the Georgia avenue fence at Grant Park and put up a rustic fence which can be made from branches cut from trees in the park. The matter was referred to the improvement committee.

The board will erect a fence around the Peace monument in Piedmont park to prevent visitors treading on the grass.

Improve Bathing Facilities.

The bathing facilities at Piedmont will be improved. The rooms set apart for ladies will be inclosed and made more private. A matron will be added to the Piedmont park force.

General Manager Carey suggested that a tennis court be laid out on the site of the old coliseum, and that a bath house with showers be placed on the court for the benefit of the players.

The board will consider the advisability of employing a landscape engineer to improve Adair park.

LEADING M. & M. ENTRANTS NOW RUNNING NIP AND TUCK

The leading entrants in The Constitution's M. & M. contest are running nip and tuck now for the big prizes. They are so close together that the managers of the contest are unable at the close of one day to tell who will be in the lead at the close of the next.

When the contest department closed Tuesday night the Home for Incurables was leading in the local organization class by a close margin over the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Park Street Methodist church. Martha Berry Circle, of Marietta, is still leading the out-of-town organizations.

Mrs. E. M. Reisman is leading the individuals in the city, while Marvin

THOMAS J. KELLY DIES SUDDENLY

Well-Known Newspaper Man Stricken With Apoplexy.

Mr. Kelly Had Been Connected With The Constitution Since 1886. Funeral Thursday.

Thomas J. Kelly, aged 58, of 136 West Peachtree street, one of the most prominent newspaper men in the south, was stricken with apoplexy about 6 o'clock last night on Broad street and died a few hours later at a sanitarium. Mr. Kelly, who was publicity manager for The Constitution, left the office just a few moments before the stroke came and at that time was in jovial spirits.

His wife and son were hastily notified of his condition and hastened to the hospital in time to be with him in the last hour of his life.

His body was taken later to Patterson's undertaking establishment, where funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Interment in West View.

Surviving Mr. Kelly are his wife and two children, Eugene S. Kelly, vice president of the Charles P. Glover Realty company and one of the most popular young business men in Atlanta, and Mrs. William S. Royster, of Norfolk, Va.

Was Born in Virginia.

Thomas Jefferson Kelly was a native of Albermarle county, Virginia, and was a first honor graduate of Emory and Henry college. He came from an old Virginia family, widely and favorably known. After receiving his degree he began to teach and in the eighties came to Georgia, where he made a reputation as a teacher and was soon placed in charge of the schools at Talbotton. There he married Miss Belle Smith.

A few years later Mr. Kelly came to Atlanta, where he was associated in business with A. P. Stewart and later became connected with a stove and hardware firm on Whitehall street near High's present location.

In 1886 he came on The Constitution, when Henry Gray, now of Birmingham and at one time lieutenant governor of Alabama, was in charge of the advertising department. Mr. Gray left to accept the advertising management of The Birmingham Age-Herald and Mr. Kelley was placed in charge of The Constitution's advertising department by Colonel W. A. Hemphill and Captain Evan P. Howell, with whom he was closely associated for many years.

From the start Mr. Kelly made good and since that day has been regarded as a valuable adjunct to the paper. In those days hunting advertisements for a paper was new. Business men usually brought in their own copy and the advertising contracts were made in the business office of the paper.

Proved an Active Figure.

Quick to see the advantage of going after advertising that was worth while, Mr. Kelly brought new and additional results and within a short time it was found necessary to give his department more solicitors. For many years he was an active figure in Atlanta's business life and always took a leading part in promoting the advancement of the city.

A few years ago he was made publicity manager and in the new position proved himself as faithful and devoted to the interests of The Constitution as he had been active in his first years of service.

Mr. Kelly has always enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him. Always of rather a retiring disposition, he never pushed himself to the front, but his accurate views of business matters always made his advice sought by others who profited by his discretion. Gentle in disposition, he had nothing but kind words for all with whom he came in contact. He was ever ready to help the needy.

Kisses Are Barred By Comely Wife; Her Lips Sacred

Child by Side, Mrs. Deems Tells Judge Her Husband Has Never Kissed Her---Kissing Wrong.

Baltimore, February 4.—"I do not believe wives should kiss their husbands; I don't believe anybody ought to kiss."

This was the reply Mrs. Theresa E. Deems, 22 years of age, and comely, made today when asked in court if she did not want to kiss her husband and make up.

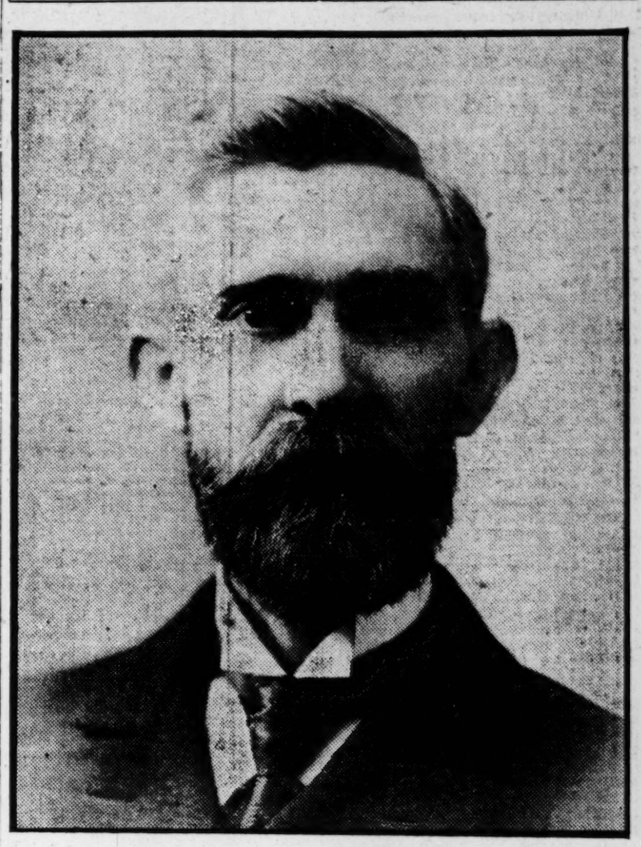
Then Judge Ambler paroled George W. Deems, who had been arraigned on a charge of non-support, on condition that he pay $3 a week toward the support of his wife and 7-year-old child.

Mrs. Deems said afterwards that she had never been kissed, not even by her parents, and that she would not kiss her child, whom she loved "more than her own life," because she did not believe in kissing.

HE THUMPED HIMSELF AND ACCUSED NEGROES

Chicago, February 4.—Harold Peterson tonight confessed that he today accidentally set fire to the Berguist upholstery establishment, and, fearing imprisonment, concocted a story and acted the part of having been beaten by two negroes, who, he said, fired the building. Peterson beat himself on the head with a milk bottle and tied ropes around his arms. As the fire grew dangerous he staggered to the street and gave the alarm. The fire started when he dropped a cigarette in some excelsior. The loss was not great.

DIES FROM APOPLEXY STROKE



THOMAS J. KELLY.

Just Presented by the Stork, Baby Boy and Girl Are Betrothed

East St. Louis, Ill., February 4.—Miss Clara Carter Mallett and Mallett Carter, born in the same flat here last Thursday are engaged to marry. The children are each five days old, and the wedding is scheduled to take place many years hence. It seemed so remarkable to the parents of the children that the stork should visit both homes within four hours that they agreed to bring up the children in the knowledge that they were betrothed.

EVINS WILL AID IN CRAFT PROBE

Destructor Company Invites Mayor to Investigate.

Woodward and Mayson Clash Over Paying City Salaries Before the Finance Sheet Is Passed.

Samuel N. Evins, local counsel for the New York Destructor company, stated yesterday that he would aid Mayor James G. Woodward in an investigation to unearth corruption in the $276,800 crematory deal.

The mayor hinted in his veto message to council, Monday afternoon, at a possible $128,000 "slush" or "corruption" fund in the contract because that sum is the excess in price between the Milwaukee and the Atlanta plants.

Mayor Woodward says he will back up every utterance in his message. He says that he is glad his message has "sunk in."

Characteristic of Woodward.

Attorney Evins stated, after reading the mayor's veto message, that it was characteristic of Woodward. He said there were mis-statements in the message, and as to the alleged graft fund he said the mayor was just assuming. "Let him appoint a committee to make an investigation, and I'll aid in every way I can," Attorney Evins said. "The contract we have with the city is just as good as any ever made in the country. The Destructor company sold its plant on merit. There was not a penny spent to influence any member of council or the city administration."

W. E. Dowd, Jr., sales manager of the Destructor company, and who has been in Atlanta looking after the interests of the corporation, also strenuously denied the intimation of corruption in the crematory deal.

"Atlanta is getting value for every dollar it is spending," he said. "There is not enough money in the plant we are going to build to permit of a corruption fund."

The New York Destructor company has notified its Atlanta representatives that it will positively build the $278,600 plant.

Mayor Is Determined.

Mayor Woodward says "they are fools if they put their money in a plant in Atlanta," explaining that he will not sign a warrant or approve a voucher for the payment of a dollar on the contract.

Council supporters are lining up to pass the $75,000 first payment appropriation over the veto of the mayor, and Aldermen McClelland, Harwell, Everett and Van Dyke say they are going to back up the mayor when the sheet goes to the aldermanic board.

City Attorney James L. Mayson says all checks and warrants on the city treasury signed prior to the adoption of the tentative sheet, are illegal, and suggests that council appropriate the $175,000 charter fund to pay February salaries and current expenses.

The January payroll amounted to more than $222,000, and the charter

IS SLOT MACHINE GAMING DEVICE?

Taking $25,000 Yearly From Patrons, Says C. W. Smith.

"It Could Be Mistaken for Alms Box in Cathedral," Declares Assistant City Attorney.

That a slot machine is a gaming device is one of the allegations set up by W. D. Ellis, Jr., assistant city attorney, in his brief in the test case of T. C. Alexander against the city, pending before the Georgia court of appeals.

The brief is one of the most comprehensive and interesting documents that have been prepared and touches on the scope of the city ordinance and state laws relating to gambling. The city brought a case against Alexander under the ordinance abolishing slot machines.

Slot Machines Net $25,000

Councilman Charles Whitford Smith, author of the anti-slot machine ordinance, roughly estimated that slot machines were ingeniously taking nickles and pennies from the pockets of innocent patrons of drug stores, cigar stands, beer halls, a sum close to $25,000 a year.

"This machine is, in our opinion, one of the most ingenious of its kind," says Assistant City Attorney Ellis.

"It is the perfection of invention in concealing its true purpose. It is as innocent looking as a cooing babe.

Might Be Taken for Cabrity Box.

"It could be mistaken for an almsbox beside a cathedral door. It has its fanges. You must look twice, or maybe thrice to see them.

"This innocent looking machine sells chewing gum; that is its business. It sets up its habitation in a near beer saloon, an odd place to do a lucrative, bona fide chewing gum business. It is what you call a howling success.

"Crowds attracted by the innocence of its appearance or the number of interested spectators gather around to watch this innocent little woman.

"Judging from the place of its business we would rather say that the men composing these crowds are drinkers of beer rather than chewers of gum.

"In a single transaction there is no chance—that is admitted to be true.

"This machine, speaking through its dial, says: 'One package of gum. What will the machine say next?'

It Is a Talking Machine.

"It will speak, for it is a talking as well as a vending machine. What is behind that 'one package of gum?' and what will the machine say next. It may be a package of gum or twenty trade checks. These trade checks are worth 5 cents each, or $1 in trade at the bar.

"One package of gum and twenty glasses of beer for a nickel is something for nothing.

"The chance is in the card behind.

"The cry of 'Beyond the Alps Lies Italy' sent the heavy artillery to the other side. The desire to know what comes next, with the thought that the next may give something for nothing, is the impelling power which forces

WIFE OF BEACH TO SWEAR NEGRO CUT HER THROAT

Evidence Introduced by the State Only Circumstantial.

MYSTERIOUS MAN IN GRAY

Miss Wyman Says That She Heard Mrs. Beach Scream and Then Saw a Man Running Away.

Aiken, S. C., February 4.—In the examination today of all but one or two of its witnesses, the prosecution in the case of Frederick O. Beach practically finished the construction of its circumstantial case.

Tomorrow Mrs. Beach will take the stand to tell the jury that it was a negro and not her husband who committed the assault upon her last February that led to the latter's indictment.

Not one of the eight witnesses whose testimony consumed the first day of the trial could tell just how the assault occurred. Four members of the Wyman family, living almost directly across the street, told of hearing a series of screams from different parts of the Beach premises about 9:30 on the night of February 26. Two of them swore that the dying echo of the last scream was quickly followed by a loud rap on a door and the sound of a man's voice, exclaiming:

"This is Beach; let me in."

Beach's Explanation.

By one of these same witnesses, Dr. Marion Wyman, the defense brought out the fact that Beach had explained to him the next day that after finding his wife prostrated, the victim of a negro assailant, and after carrying her into the house, he had gone out again in search of the man. Returning, unsuccessful, Beach told him he had knocked on the door to be admitted.

Dr. Wyman and his father, Dr. Hastings Wyman, the first outsiders to see Mrs. Beach after she had been wounded, admitted on cross-examination that the attitude of Beach and his wife toward each other was one of affection. They reached the room into which Mrs. Beach had been carried while blood was streaming from a wound in her neck just under the right ear, and Beach told them the story he has stuck to ever since—that his wife was attacked in front of their cottage by an unknown negro while she was outside giving her dogs an airing.

Every effort of the prosecution today appeared to be directed at picking flaws in Beach's story rather than at supporting its own contention that Beach attacked his wife after he had failed to overtake a white man he was pursuing.

Mrs. Beach Conspicuous.

Mrs. Beach was the most conspicuous figure in court today. She sat through two long sessions taking an occasional note from the testimony and chatting with her husband and the friends who surrounded her. When she smiled she showed two rows of perfect pearl teeth, and her sad brown eyes alone betrayed whatever anxiety she may have felt.

She and her husband were almost the first ones to reach court and the last to leave it.

At no time during the proceedings did Beach advise with his counsel. He appeared to think that his lawyers—there were four or five—were well able to look out for his interests.

A jury of countrymen will decide the guilt or innocence of the wealthy New Yorker. Seven of them are farmers, one a merchant and the other cotton mill men. Every man answered unhesitatingly when asked if he thought he could give the accused a fair and impartial trial.

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

Both sides expressed confidence tonight that the case would go to the jury tomorrow.

Stabbed From Behind.

Dr. Hastings Wyman and his son, Dr. Marion Wyman, who examined Mrs. Beach's wound soon after she was cut, expressed the opinion that the stab was inflicted from behind. The theory of the prosecution is that Beach attacked his wife while she was running away from him.

When court reconvened at 1:35 o'clock the two physicians were the only witnesses who had been examined. Colonel Henderson indicated that he would ask later to have the jury inspect the premises of the Beach home.

Mrs. Beach took a keen interest in the examination of the witnesses and frequently jotted down notes with a gold pencil. Once she joined heartily in the laugh that followed a subtle compliment offered her by the elder Dr. Wyman. Colonel Henderson had asked him how Mrs. Beach looked when he saw her just after she had been attacked.

"Not at well as she is looking this morning," replied Dr. Wyman, bowing gallantly to Mrs. Beach.

Beach and Wife Appear.

Mr. Beach appeared in the courtroom fully an hour before the case was called. He was accompanied by Mrs. Beach, her sister, Mrs. James B. Taylor, and Miss Marion Hollins. Mrs. Beach was becomingly attired in a brown suit and brown toque, and was veiled.

Beach and his wife sat at their lawyers' table behind a bulwark of law books, chatting gaily while the prosecution was calling the witnesses in another case.

Soon after their arrival Mrs. Colvin Iselin came in with Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Hollins and took seats just behind the Beachs. Back of the rail, a score or more of women, only a few of whom were members of the winter colony, had pre-empted the best seats, and strained eagerly for a glimpse of Beach and his wife.

While the indictment was being read Mrs. Beach kept her eyes intently upon Prosecutor Gunter. Her face did not change expression when he reached the words, "Did assault with murderous intent." Beach rested his chin on his hand and gazed straight before him. He was not formally arraigned, thus being spared the humiliation of standing in the prisoner's docket.

Prosecutor Gunter opened his case by having the stenographer read the testimony of Miss Lallah Wyman, who is ill, taken yesterday.

She Saw a Man.

Miss Wyman was examined in the presence of Prosecutor Gunter and Colonel Henderson, counsel for the defense. She testified that she was in her bed in the front room of her home, which is directly across the street from the scene of the assault, when she heard two screams. She went to the open window, tried to locate the source of the screams. Seeing no one, she returned to bed, and a few minutes later she heard two more screams. This time she saw a man come down the street from the direction of the Beach home, when she shouted for him to stop that noise or she would call the police. She said the man broke into a run.

"You had better run, and run fast," was her parting shot at the retreating figure. Miss Wyman could not say whether the man was white or black. She said the suit he wore "was not real light or real black."

After Miss Wyman returned to bed again she said she heard a third series of screams from the direction of the Beach home.

Dr. Hastings Wyman, father of the girl, was the first witness. He testified that he was in his library reading when he heard two sets of screams across the street. He did not hear the third set of screams, referred to by his daughter.

Mrs. Beach Bleeding.

Dr. Wyman said that after he had heard the screams he and his son, Dr. Marion Wyman, rushed over to the Beach home, and were admitted by Beach to a room in which Mrs. Beach was lying on the sofa, blood streaming from her throat. Beach told him that his wife had been stabbed by a negro, who attacked her when she took her dogs out for an airing. On cross-examination, Dr. Wyman said the attitude of Beach and his wife toward each other could not be regarded as hostile.

Dr. Marion Wyman testified that he heard three distinct set of screams from the vicinity of the Beach home, and then a knock on a door, followed by the sound of a voice commanding, "Let me in; this is Beach." Examined closely on this point, the witness said that he asked Beach next day about the knock on the door, and that Beach explained to him that after carrying his wife into the house he had secured his revolvers, and had gone outside again in search of the assailant.

When court reconvened Mrs. Marion Wyman was called to the stand. She corroborated her husband's testimony as to hearing screams from the Beach territory. She testified that she heard screams outside the Beach house. Then she heard a door slide, and subdued screams. Immediately afterwards, she said, she heard a loud knock and a voice demand, "This is Beach, let me in."

Negro Girl on the Stand.

Pearl Hampton, the negro servant, in who much interest has centered, was called to the stand. She was employed at the home of J. W. Holmes, adjoining the Beach cottage, at the time. She testified that the Lyons were giving a dinner party that night and that the Beaches were not present. She started to leave the house shortly after 9 o'clock and noticed a man standing by a bush near the fence separating the Beach premises.

"Who is that?" she said, she inquired.

"Nobody to hurt you," was the reply.

The witness said that she started back to the kitchen and the unknown man hit her in the back of the head and knocked her down.

Then she screamed and ran, returning to the kitchen and reporting the occurrence to two other servants. She said they accompanied her away from the place by another exit.

On cross-examination the woman said she was unable to tell whether her assailant was a white man or a negro. She said he wore a dark gray suit or overcoat. She was so excited, she said, that she was unable to get a better description of the man.

Anna Bowman, a white servant, employed at the Lyons, testified that she heard screams after Pearl had been gone for about ten minutes. A few minutes later Pearl came back crying, declaring that she had been attacked on the driveway. Kate O'Neal, white, cook at the Lyons, corroborated this testimony. She added that Pearl had been gone twenty minutes before she came back. She said that Pearl did not have her hat on when she left the kitchen and that she was accustomed to leaving her coat and hat in the laundry, which stands midway between the Lyons and Beach homes.

Charles Woodbridge, a valet, testified that his wife, now in New York, was Mrs. Beach's personal maid at the time. Many nights, he said, he called for his wife at the Beach home at 9:25 o'clock and left with her ten minutes later. He said she was summoned from their home to attend Mrs. Beach about 10 o'clock.

J. T. Southall, dispensary agent here, testified that he passed the Beach home between 9 and 10 o'clock on the night in question. He said he heard no screams and saw no one. On cross-examination he was not able to give the exact time.

Story of the Sheriff.

The last witness of the day was Sheriff H. H. Howard, who was chief of police of Aiken at the time. He said that he was summoned to the Beach home by telephone about an hour after the assault was supposed to have occurred.

Beach related the same story to him that he told to others. He said he did not see Mrs. Beach that night. He made an examination of the premises and discovered evidences of a struggle on the ground in the side yard.

He said he found earrings, combs and hairpins, aafterwards identified as belonging to Mrs. Beach, and a bloody fence picket. This picket, he said, had been torn off the fence separating the Beach and Lyons premises.

"Beach told me," said the witness, "that he heard his wife scream and rushed out of the front door in time to see her assailant strike her. Beach said he almost tripped the man as he fled by him out of the gate. After carrying his wife into the house he said he went upstairs, got his gun and went in pursuit of the assailant. Returning from the chase after a short time, he said, he knocked on the door and said:

"This is Beach. Let me in."

The witness said that he discovered footprints of a man and a woman in the side yard. Mrs. Beach has claimed that the negro attacked her in front of the house and dragged her into the side yard. On examination of the witness a sharp exchange occurred between opposing counsel. Sheriff Howard had said that about three weeks after the assault he was called to the Beach house for a conference about the affair, but that when he saw Colonel Henderson was there he quit.

Beach's Attorney Angry.

"Didn't he conduct things pretty much to suit himself?" asked Prosecutor Gunter.

Greatly agitated, the leading counsel for the defense jumped to his feet.

"When you say I conducted things to suit myself, you make very impertinent and improper remark," he shouted at the prosecutor.

"If I had said that I would stick by it," was the reply. "I merely asked the witness if you did not."

The witness declared that when he found Henderson there he "gave up and took a back seat."

He said that he was sick in bed when the warrant was sworn out for Beach, and he had nothing to do with it.

The defense brought out the fact that the case against Beach was worked up by a detective named Baughn, who was employed by the town council. Baughn has not been summoned as a witness. Prosecutor Gunter then established by the same witness the alleged fact that another detective named Post was put on the case by Beach before Baughn came.

A number of photographs of the Beach houses were placed in evidence by the prosecution before adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

PAN-AMERICAN RAILWAY WOULD MAKE FOR PEACE

Washington, February 4.—The linking of the Americas by rail would be of great value as a peace propaganda among the different countries of North and South America is the opinion of Andrew Carnegie. This belief was expressed by Mr. Carnegie at a meeting here today of the permanent Pan-American railway committee, of which he is a member, when reports on the linking of the Americas by rail were read, indicating that progress is being made toward this project.

Chairman Henry Gassaway Davis, former senator from West Virginia, presided at the meeting. General Geo. W. Davis and Charles M. Pepper also were present. In Central America only 18 miles of line remain to be constructed to make practicable a railway journey from New York to Guatemala City.

Construction from there is well under way to San Miguel, Salvador. From this point to the Panama canal, 600 miles away, a number of links have been constructed and plans for others are well advanced.

In South America only 175 miles are still to be constructed between Buenos Ayres and Lake Titicaca, and the line has been completed from the latter point to Cuzco, Peru, 2,000 miles from Buenos Ayres. In Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Peru and Ecuador progress has been made.

The committee will make a full report to the next Pan-American conference, which probably will be held in some South American capital during the coming year.

HONOR SYSTEM IN PEN BITTERLY DENOUNCED

Phoenix, Ariz., February 4.—State Auditor J. P. Callaghan, in his annual report to Governor Hunt today, bitterly assailed the conduct of the state penitentiary under the "honor system," put in force by the governor.

The report seeks to show that prison reform as practiced under the direction of Governor Hunt has been a failure. The report will be submitted to the legislature tomorrow.

In reply, the governor asserted today that Callaghan had no knowledge of the working of the system.

SOME WOMEN OBJECT TO 8-HOUR LABOR LIMIT

Washington, February 4.—Some of Washington's women workers object to having their day's labor limited to eight hours. Contending that the La Follette bill for that purpose would impose an undue burden instead of bettering their condition, many women workers of the city, before a senate committee today, opposed it on the ground that without over-time pay it would be almost impossible to make a living.

Bailey's Farewell Barred.

Washington, February 4.—Former Senator Joseph W. Bailey's farewell address to the senate will not be printed as a public document. When Senator Martin proposed it today Senator Smoot objected to having the speech reprinted at the government's expense.

Popular Vote for Senators.

Charleston, W. Va., February 4.—The senate today adopted the house resolution ratifying the amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote.

PRETTY MILLINER WILL WAIT FOR AFFINITY TO GET DIVORCE

With the arrest of Gladys Scoggins, the Newan milliner, and R. M. Rimes, a married man of Ludowici, Ga., the mystery of the girl's disappearance from a fashionable Peachtree street boardng house was solved yesterday at noon.

Rimes and Miss Scoggins were caught at the Union station by Detective Waggoner. They had ventured out from the Brittain hotel, at which they had been living for a week as "Mr. and Mrs. Raines," and were in search of a cabman to transfer the girl's effects. Her father, James Scoggins, was with the detective at the time.

Both were taken to police headquarters. The young milliner, despondent and hysterical, was detained in Matron Bohnefeld's ward for her parent. Rimes was arraigned before Recorder Broyles at 3 o'clock. The case was postponed until today. His bond was assessed at $5,000.

Miss Scoggins Vanishes.

One week ago Miss Scoggins, who has been in Atlanta for probably a month, disappeared from the home on Peachtree street, at which she had been boarding. Her personal effects, clothing and all baggage, remained in the room she had occupied. No word whatever was received from her. She had vanished completely.

Her parents in Newnan grew uneasy over her failure to answer their letters. Mr. Scoggins came to Atlanta, and learned that his daughter was missing. He appealed to the detectives, and Monday a systematic search of the city was instituted. She was nowhere to be found.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. Scoggins and Detective Waggoner, who had been detailed with others to the case, were standing near the Union station. Suddenly the Newnan man clutched the detective by the sleeve and exclaimed aloud:

"There—there's my daughter!"

Miss Scoggins, accompanied by Rimes, was talking with a cabman near the station. Waggoner placed both under arrest, and walked them to headquarters. The girl, first indignant, then reticent when plied with questions, finally grew hysterical. She stuck loyally by Rimes, and obstinately refused to talk.

Said Rimes Had Attended Her.

Later, she told a reporter for The Constitution that she had been seized with illness while uptown Monday a week ago, and was forced to go to the Brittain hotel, on Mitchell street. Rimes, she said, attended her during the sickness, and treated her as though she were a sister.

She is a beautiful girl, with fair complexion, a wealth of auburn hair and flashing blue eyes. She was dressed in a traveling suit of blue, chinchilla cloak and chic hat, with a multi-colored veil. She was a popular society girl in Newnan, and was a student of Brenau college, Gainesville, during 1908 and 1909. She is 19 years old.

She had been employed last season as forelady in the Rimes Bros.' department store in Ludowici, of which Rimes is an associate proprietor. They have been acquainted for six months or more. She declared that she would marry the prisoner as soon as he obtained a divorce.

Rimes' Wife an Actress.

Rimes has been married for several years. His wife is a successful actress and lives in New York. They have been separated, he says, for years. He intends obtaining a divorce. He admits having lived with Miss Scoggins in the Brittain. It was through kindness, he asserted, that he had paid attention to her.

The girl will remain over until today and will appear with her father at the trial. No bond was assessed in her case.

Rimes would neither affirm or deny her declaration that they would wed when his divorce had been obtained. "I have nothing to say on that 'particular' subject," he said. He is a pleasant, affable young man, presumably 28 years old, fluent of speech and graceful in manner.

No Mystery in My Absence.

"There was no mystery in my absence from the boarding place," Miss Scoggins told the reporter. "I was taken ill while uptown and could not get home. I was forced to go to the hotel. Mr. Rimes—several times she alluded to him as 'her sweetheart'—was with me at the time and took me there. He did the registering. I knew not what names he signed.

"My roommate at the Peachtree street home knew where I was. No one else was interested enough to know, so I didn't take the trouble to inform others. It is true, I did not write papa and mamma, but I was too sick to correspond. Mr. Rimes is too good to be persecuted in this manner. He treated me as kindly, if not kinder, than I would have been treated by anyone else or elsewhere.

Going to Marry Him.

"I am not ashamed of him. I'm going to marry him when he gets divorced. I was in a strange city, out of employment, and as he had been my former employer, he furnished funds and necessities. I would rather see my right eye plucked out than to see him in prison for this—or anything else."

She would not say whether or not they had lived as man and wife at the hotel. She would not even talk upon the subject. For the past five years she has been a milliner and is capable of earning a good salary.

She will be returned to Newnan with her father this afternoon at 4:10 o'clock.

"VICE SQUAD" MEN MAKE QUICK EXIT

minutes they cried for help. No policeman was in sight.

Citizens Came to Aid.

Afraid to return to her home, Mrs. Rountree and her guest shivered in the cold morning wind until citizens came to their aid. They were almost prostrated when returned to the bedroom.

Occupants of houses nearby say they recognized as plainclothes policemen two men who ran hurriedly by from the direction of the Rountree residence shortly after the first screams were heard, and that as they sped by the corner of Walton they flashed their lights toward the windows that were opened by boarders who sought to ascertain the origin of the screams. The fleeing men turned in to Walton street. One ran up Spring and the other continued toward Walton street. The two policemen narrowly escaped being filled with birdshot, one of the boarders in 104 Luckie having grabbed his gun when he heard the screams, intending to shoot the intruders. They got away just in time.

SCORES OF THEATERS MUST CHANGE PLANS

New York, February 4.—In upholding the validity of the "loft theater ordinance," Chief Justice Baldwin, of the circuit court, rendered a decision which will affect scores of theaters in this city, particularly outside of the business district.

The ordinance was passed to insure the safety of patrons after the Iroquois theater fire in which about 600 persons lost their lives. By far the greatest number of houses affected are moving picture establishments, but at least one down-town playhouse must close and make alterations costing $60,000.

The changes involve lowering this theater from the second story to the ground floor. Many theaters have been erected in violation of the ordinance by means of injunctions and other legal expedients

WAGES ARE INCREASED BY THE STEEL COMBINE

Duluth, Minn., February 4.—The increase in wages promised the first of the year by the United States Steel corporation went into effect today. President Olcott, of the Oliver Mining company, issued a statement saying that the rates for surface labor are advanced $2.10 to $2.25 per day. Rates in other classifiactions of labor, both surface and underground, are also adjusted so as to give the highest percentage of increase to the lower paid employees.

Daring Daylight Robbery.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 4.—A daring daylight robbery was committed here today, when a thief entered the home of Mrs. J. C. Raahl at Julia and Beaver streets, in the heart of the city, and took diamonds and jewelry valued at $5,000. Later the man was arrested when trying to pawn the gems. He gave his name as Bert Mason, of Tampa.

Killed Babies and Self.

Lebanon, Mo., February 4.—Mrs. Guy Reichtmyer killed two of her children and herself today. One of the children was 5 years old and other 2. A daughter, 16 years old, was to have been married today. Mrs. Reichtmyer was the widow of a Leadmier, Mo., merchant who died recently.

get an undesirable reputation, and if he possessed much property would find that the added cost of taxes when he finally was forced to pay them would amount to a large sum.

Willing to Serve Their Share.

Few of Atlanta's business men who talked of getting called too often for jury work desired to do either one of the above, because, as most of them stated, they felt perfectly willing to give up their share of time to their duty as citizens, and only desired to know of some method by which they might escape when it was actually necessary.

The present jury list was picked last August and will be revised within two years from that date. The commissioners appointed by the superior court for this duty are J. B. Campbell, John R. Dickey, George W. McCarty, William S. Brown, George Sims and B. M. Blount. These commissioners, with a deputy clerk of the superior court, choose the list of veniremen from the registered voters, but are not called upon to draw names from the box when jurors are needed in trial work.

Still After Gen. Sickles.

New York, February 4.—Two more executions against General Daniel E. Sickles, the aged warrior, which must be suffered out of his property before the state's claim for his shortage in the monument fund can be collected were received by the sheriff today. The executions are in favor of August Heckscher for $8,015 and the National Bank of Orange County, New York, for $542. Another person is co-defendant with General Sickles in the latter claim.

40,000 MEN VOTING TO LEAVE PLACES

80 Per Cent of Employees of Eastern Railways Express Themselves in Favor of Strike.

New York, February 4.—All of the votes in the strike ballot now being counted by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on fifty-four eastern railways will have been received by Saturday night, according to a statement tonight by T. Shea, assistant to President W. S. Carter, of the brotherhood. Mr. Carter is expected here Sunday, when the result of the ballot probably will be in hand. Mr. Shea would not say what the votes already received indicated, but it is reported from other sources that 80 per cent of the members favor a strike unless the railways grant their demands. There are about 40,000 men involved.

That the firemen still hope for an amicable settlement was made plain by Mr. Shea, who said that as soon as the result of the strike ballot was known the firemen's committee would request a conference with the managers and again offer to arbitrate under the Erdman act.

"Our demands are fair and reasonable," Shea said, "and while we are sure of this we are willing to meet the managers half-way in an equitable settlement."

The railway managers in a statement tonight say that chief among the propositions which the railroads have offered to arbitrate is a demand for two firemen on all freight engines of more than 200 pounds weight on the drivers. This point, the statement concedes there are cases deserving of relief. To settle this demand the managers propose that each case be referred back to the local officers and men for decision and where they are unable to reach a judgment to refer the matter to a permanent committee of appeal for all of the fifty-four railroads.

NAGEL WILL DEFEND BARRING OF CASTRO

Washington, February 4.—Secretary Nagel today prepared to defend his course in ordering the deportation of Cipriano Castro. Certified copies of some of the evidence upon which Castro was indicted in Venezuela for alleged connection with the killing of General Peredes, were forwarded to United States Attorney Wise at New York for use at the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus Friday. The secretary's action was based upon telegraphic information from Caracas through the state department. The certified data received included, it is understood, copies of some of the official records of Venezuela while Castro was president.

CALERO TOLD LIES TO UNITED STATES

Sensational Confession by the Former Mexic Ambassador.

He Says in Predicting End of Revolution He Lied---Mexico's Situation Is Desperate.

Mexico City, February 4.—"I lied to the American government for ten months, telling them that the Mexican revolution would be over in six weeks. I was forced to invest my diplomatic mission with a domino and a mask."

This statement was made by Manuel Calero, formerly Mexican ambassador to the United States during the discussion of the loan measure in the senate last night.

"The truth is that the department of finance has not painted the situation as it really is. We should speak the truth, though it destroys us," declared Calero.

"The truth is that the situation is desperate."

Senor Calero's speech created a tremendous sensation.

Ernesto Madero, minister of finance, replied, calling Manuel Calero "an indiscreet ambassador and a bad financier."

Blanco Quits Madero.

El Paso, Texas, February 4.—A document signed by General Jose Blanco was made public today in which the former commander of Madero's rebels orders his captains to "do as their conscience dictates" in disbanding their troops or joining the revolution.

The order, it was said, was signed when Blanco was a prisoner of rebels, who released him on parole. Blanco's command consisted of some 600 cavalry operating in the Casas Grandes district. The federal commander remains here, as his parole will not permit him to enter Mexico.

A Chihuahua smelter closed because of fuel shortage, due to the interrupted railway traffic between the state capital and the border. The mines and plants, employing more than 2,000 men, are dependent on the smelter.

SOCIAL CIRCLE MILLS IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

Monroe, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) Owing to a temporary inability to meet its financial obligations the Social Circle cotton mills, of Social Circle, was placed in a receiver's hands by the United States court today pending an effort to reorganize the company. Colonel E. P. Upshaw, of Atlanta, filed the petition on behalf of moving creditors. Messrs. Walker & Roberts, of Monroe, are attorneys for the company.

MAY DIE AS RESULT OF POOL ROOM ROW

Columbus, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Monroe Newberry and Oscar Holly, two young men, quarreled over a pool game in Girard, Ala., late this afternoon and Holly struck the other and ran. Newberry pursued, stabbing Holly as he ran. One of the stabs inflicted is a deep one at the base of the brain. Holly is thought to be in a dying condition.

To Seize Trust Imports.

Washington, February 4.—Authority for federal seizure of merchandise imported by trusts or under illegal contracts was provided in the Norris bill, which passed the senate today. It already has passed the house and was recommended by Attorney General Wickersham to give federal officials power to seize coffee held in storage at New York by the Brazilian coffee monopoly.

PICNIC IS STAKE IN UNIQUE CONTEST OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Which Sunday school is to toast and entertain the other at a picnic, the First Christian or the Second Baptist? To settle this question the two schools are planning a unique contest of three months' duration, in which they will fight for points in Sunday school attendance, teacher training work, the cultivation of the "come early" habit and the bringing in of new scholars. Some time in June or July the picnic will be given by the loser.

In the office of F. J. Paxon a handful of men, representing both schools, met Tuesday afternoon and arranged the essential details of the contest. A delegate from the First Christian will journey to the Second Baptist Sunday school next Sunday and will deliver the formal challenge, which will be accepted with plaudits. The points will be counted for each Sunday school, as follows:

For each scholar present at 9:30 o'clock, 2 points.

For each scholar present before 9:50 o'clock, 1 point.

Nothing at all for those who arrive after 9:50.

For every Sunday school scholar attending church service, and being present the following Sunday morning to report it, 1 point.

For each new scholar brought into the school, five points.

For each teacher absent from the mid-week teacher training class, two points deducted.

The points under the first two heads (school attendance) will be prorated by counting only four-fifths of the number present at the Second Baptist, as this is the larger school. It has an average attendance of about 500, while the First Christian usually has about 400.

One of the interesting features of the picnic will be a baseball game played between two teams, one headed by Rev. L. O. Bricker and the other by Rev. John E. White.

Those present at the meeting Tuesday from the Second Baptist were Dr. White, Mr. Paxon, John Spalding and William Hurd Hillyer; from the Christian church, Dr. Bricker, Harry A. Jones, E. F. Williams, John Crenshaw, A. M. Beattie and Scott Bell.

J. W. CRUFT DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Was the Father of Mrs. Harry English, of Atlanta.

A telegram from Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday announced the death of J. W. Cruft, of Terre Haute, Ind., the father of Mrs. Harry English, of Atlanta.

Mr. Cruft had gone to Los Angeles for the winter, and the news of his death came as a great shock yesterday not only to his family but to his many friends in Atlanta. Mr. Cruft has several times visited his daughter here, and he spent the holidays in Atlanta. He was in excellent health, and was continually entertained during his last visit here. He left Atlanta in early January for California, and letters from there have not indicated ill health.

Mr. Cruft was a prominent citizen of Terre Haute, Ind., who several years ago retired from active business. He has traveled extensively in Europe, and on his last trip was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. English. He was a man of intellectual attainment, and of a distinctly chivalrous and charmingly social personality. Many friends will mourn his loss here.

Mr. and Mrs. English will leave for Terre Haute, Ind., this afternoon, and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STREET CAR RAN AWAY; SHE JUMPED, NOW SUES

What a thoroughly frightened woman will do on a moving trolley car of which she is the only occupant was told in two damage suits aggregating $7,500 filed yesterday by Mrs. Carrie B. Veal and her husband, B. H. Veal, against the Georgia Railway and Power company. Mrs. Veal says she jumped and jumped quick.

Mrs. Veal, who tells her age as 38, says that she boarded a Moreland avenue car at the end of the line on Ponce de Leon avenue on the morning of October 1. Both the motorman and conductor got off and the car began to roll down hill toward town, with the street car men chasing it.

Pictures of what would happen if the car should strike a vehicle or leap the track began to roll before her eyes and she rushed to the platform and leaped for safety. She does not tell what happened to the car when she deserted it, but declares that she sprained her ankle in jumping, and so injured the ligaments of her foot that she had to carry it in a plaster of paris cast.

In her suit, filed by Attorney James L. Key, she asks $5,000, and her husband, in a similar suit, asks $2,500. Mrs. Veal declares that as a housewife before the leap she was worth $40 per month.

CITY PLAN EXPERT TO LECTURE HERE

Charles W. Leavitt, Jr., Speaks at Taft Hall Saturday Night.

Alex W. Smith, chairman of the Atlanta improvement commission, announces that Charles W. Leavitt, Jr., of New York, the famous landscape engineer and city plan expert, will deliver an illustrated lecture at Taft hall at 8 o'clock Saturday evening under the auspices of the Atlanta improvement commission and the chamber of commerce.

The lecture will be free and the general public is cordially invited to attend. Mr. Leavitt is one of the most prominent figures in America in landscape and city plan engineering. It was he who laid out Garden City, Long Island. He planned the Palisades interstate park, on the New York and New Jersey line. He is the consulting engineer on the board of additional water supply. This board is spending about $2,000,000 to furnish New York with more water. It was Mr. Leavitt who laid out Steelton, Pa., for the Pennsylvania Steel company, the place which has come to be regarded as a model of its kind. He made valuable suggestions, when his advice was sought, for the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

NEGRO WOMEN WORKING ON WAYCROSS STREETS

Waycross, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Mayor Hary D. Reed thinks he has found the solution of the loitering problem among negro women of Waycross. Gang sentences are being given to loiterers by the mayor, and a guard has been secured to keep the women of this gang at work on the city streets.

Today the gang has seven members, and all are on for fifteen days. A few of them claim to be cooks, but as they were reported by the police as "regulars" at a hang-out joint for negroes, they were not allowed to return to their jobs. Heretofore the arrest of negro women has merely proved an extra expense for the city, as the women were kept in jail when unable to pay their fines.

It has been several years since women were worked on the streets of Waycross, and the decision to return to this custom was arrived at only after serious consideration by the city officials. Few cases of loitering are anticipated after it becomes known among those inclined to loaf that the city has a job for all who are convicted of loitering.

ATLANTA IGNORES LAWS, SAYS JUDGE

Jurist Asserts That City With 55 Homicides a Year Reeks With Crime.

Forsyth, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) "The people of Atlanta have no respect for law or authority, and the city is reeking with crime, fifty-five homicides having been committed there last year."

With this statement made in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the Monroe superior court, Judge R. T. Daniel continued by drawing a comparison between Winnipeg, Canada, and Atlanta to the latter city's discredit. Said the judge:

"I never saw or appreciated the power and benefit of the proper training of children in obedience to authority as I witnessed last summer in Canada.

"Two years before a convention met in Atlanta. Large ropes had been tied from post to post to keep the crowd back. An extra number of policemen were on duty and yet the crowd ran over the ropes and the policement in such a manner that the carriages could hardly get through the streets. Now, what is the result? The people of Atlanta have no respect for law or authority, and the city is reeking with crime, fifty-five homicide having been committed there last year. The people of Canada respect law and authority and there are few crimes.

"I was in Winnipeg last summer attending that same organization's convention. There was a parade in which 15,000 persons anticipated. There was estimated to be on the streets about 50,000 persons. The sidewalks were packed with people. To hold back this vast number of people the city authorities, instead of tying a rope from post to post and having a large number of extra policemen to press the crowd back, simply laid down a rope on the sidewalk about twelve inches from the edge, and, in a drive of about three miles through that great crowd, I never saw a man, woman nor child step over that rope.

"What a wonderful exhibition of obedience to authority, respect for law! These people from childhood had been taught to obey, respect authority. They had been told one time that they must not step over that rope in reviewing a parade, and that was sufficient."

Gossip at the Capitol

Negro's Life in Governor's Hands.

The prison commission has referred to Governor Joseph M. Brown the petition from the friends and attorneys of John Phillips, a Tift county negro sentenced to hang at Tifton next Friday for the murder of James Smith, another negro, asking the commutation of Phillips' sentence to life imprisonment. A decision is expected from the governor on Wednesday or Thursday. The trouble in which Smith was killed is alleged to have arisen when Smith attempted to break up a card game in a turpentine "shanty."

Road Not Liable for Damages.

Although a railroad may pay the salary of a policeman, detailed by a city to duty at the road's station, the railroad is not liable to recovery of damages in case that officer makes a false arrest, is the opinion handed down by the court of appeals Tuesday. The case was that of Bright against the Central of Georgia railroad, appealed from a Savannah court, in which the claimant alleges that a municipal officer in the employ of the railroad at its station arrested him upon false charges, and asks damages for the error.

Agricultural School Warrants Paid.

The state treasury department on Tuesday mailed out checks for $2,000 each to the eleven congressional district agricultural schools, making a total payment of $22,000 upon the maintenance fund of $110,000 payable from the agricultural department receipts from fertilizer, oils and gasoline inspections. Although the balance in the treasury was greatly reduced by the recent payment upon the back salaries of the public school teachers, State Treasurer W. J. Speer says that he believes that by the last of February the department will be in position to meet the payment of the pension warrant, which amounts to about $1,200,000.

Union Trust Company Chartered.

A charter was granted by Secretary of State Phil Cook on Tuesday to a new trust company of Atlanta, to be known as the Union Trust company. The capital stock of the company is placed at $300,000, which is divided into shares of $100 each. The incorporators are E. J. Spratling, Charles F. Stone, George Gordon, H. W. Dillin, Remsen King and Charlton G. Ogburn, of Fulton county, and Henry Leeds, of New York city.

Queer Questions Bring New Trial.

Lee Ford, convicted in Brunswick of selling intoxicating liquors, was granted a new trial by the court of appeals when the court handed down an opinion on Tuesday reversing the decision of the lower court. The ground upon which the case was appealed was that the solicitor in selecting the jurors had asked them questions other than those specified by the law. Some of the questions asked by the solicitor, says the opinion, were "Are you in favor of, or opposed to, enforcement of the law known as the 'prohibition law' of Georgia?" "Do you consider the enforcement of this prohibition law, which the defendant is charged with violating, of more importance than other misdemeanor statutes, such as shooting on a public highway, between sunset and sunrise, throwing a dead carcass in a river, etc.?" When the questions were permitted by the lower court and Ford was convicted, he moved for a new trial, which being overruled, he carried his case to the court of appeals on an assignment of error. In its opinion the court of appeals comments upon the frequency with which the court has made its present ruling in similar cases.

Vari-Colored Quilt for Taft.

Washington, February 4.—President Taft's collection of gifts was increased today when he received a red, white and blue quilt from S. H. Read, of Merna, Neb., a civil war veteran 82 years old, who wrote that the quilt had been made entirly by hand and contained 5,982 pieces.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY AND DASHED TO DEATH

Brunswick, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—The body of young Paul Tolnas, who was killed at the plant of the Yarvan Naval Stores company, was laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery today. The tragic death of this well-known young man cast a shadow of gloom over the city.

The young man was one of the oilers at the large factory, and was in the act of oiling a large conveyor when a portion of his clothing was caught in the machinery, and in the twinkling of an eye he was dashed to death. His body was terribly mangled and he died before medical aid reached him. The young man was just 19 years of age, and had been a resident of Brunswick all of his life.

NET GAIN MADE BY BOLL WEEVIL

Cotton Pest Has Added 7,300 Square Miles to Its Territory.

Washington, February 4.—Despite the check in the movement of the cotton boll weevil during the last year on account of the unusual climatic conditions of the winter of 1911-12, the insect has made a net gain of 7,300 square miles, according to a report made to the department of agriculture by W. D. Hunter and W. D. Pierce, in charge of the southern field crop insect investigations.

The total area infested with the boll weevil in 1912 was 278,800 square miles as compared with 271,500 in 1911. Texas, with 11,050 square miles, led all other states in the area of infected territory gained during the year. Alabama came second with 9,100 square miles; Florida third with 2,200 square miles and Mississippi fourth with 370 square miles.

THE CITY COMES FIRST.

The welfare of the city of Atlanta and the orderly operation of each of its departments take right-of-way over personal feuds between the men the people have elected to serve them.

None of the elements involved in the crematory controversy or the dispute touching the city's so-called "moral obligations" should miss the significance of that fact.

If the mayor thinks council has entered upon an ill-advised course, it is his duty no less than his prerogative to say so, and to take action accordingly.

If councilmen are convinced the judgment of the mayor is in error, it is, in turn, their duty to assume the attitude compatible with such conviction.

Legitimate difference of opinion is healthy and is to be expected.

But there is evident, in the current situation, an undercurrent of personal hostility which illy comports with efficient government. Neither mayor nor council can afford to support any policy which will lay them open to the charge of the one baiting the other. Too much is at stake for the officials and legislators of the city to neglect the municipality's interests while they squabble over issues which may rise solely in personal antagonism or a desire to maneuver for political advantage.

For instance, the finance sheet is held up and the legality of salary lists brought into question because of dissensions not germane to any of the items involved in the sheet proper, save those concerning the city's "moral obligations." And, on the latter count, we find a sentiment in favor of establishing the dangerous precedent that one council shall not obligate a succeeding council in paying for municipal improvements; a policy that would have made impossible the purchase of Piedmont park, the Auditorium-Armory, waterworks equipment and numerous other needed facilities.

If the divergences between councilmen and between the mayor and councilmen are fundamental they are to be respected; but they should be threshed out and settled with not a moment's unnecessary delay!

The crimination and recrimination now filling the air delay progress and engender bad feeling. The quicker all parties concerned adjudicate their differences and get down to business the better for them, the better for Atlanta. And the keynote to any settlement must be realization that the city takes precedence of any individual hobby or personal dislike or ambition.

WILSON PROBABLY IMMUNE.

Whatever may be thought of the justice, per se, of a constitutional amendment limiting the term of Woodrow Wilson or limiting the term of any president of the past or future, there is little need for Mr. Wilson's supporters to concern themselves over the outcome.

Amendment of the constitution is proverbially a slow process in America.

We have just seen that point illustrated with regard to the income tax. From the day the proposal was sent to the legislatures until its ratification was assured, nearly three and one-half years elapsed.

Conceding, even, that the house accepts the amendment as it comes from the senate—and that point is considerably in doubt—it is more than likely that the next presidential election will have been held before the country has spoken its final mandate.

This is not to take into consideration the attitude of republican, democratic and bull-moose legislatures throughout the land. As the amendment is now drawn—excluding Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt from reelection—it is highly improbable that three-fourths of the states will accept it for several years. Enough partisan rancor holds over from the fight of November to insure the indefinite blocking of the measure. It is even conceivable that if Wilson makes a satisfactory executive enough solidly democratic states will rally to either kill off the amendment or return it to congress with instructions for vital modification.

The practical unanimity with which the country accepted the income tax amendment is not a criterion of its sentiment toward the amendment touching presidential terms. The principles involved in the two are radically divergent.

AN AWAKENING TAX.

Representative Hull, of Tennessee, cited one of the first advantages of a federal income tax, now assured, when he declared it would prove an effectual check upon congressional extravagance. Where government is largely supported by money which comes direct from the taxpayer, as it will in this instance, people are apt to more intelligently scrutinize appropriations than under the present disguised and indirect system.

Most of us now contribute to the upkeep of the federal government and to its myriad improvement and reclamation projects, as well as to such fence-building grabs as dollar-a-day service pensions and the deepening and broadening of impossible creeks and imaginary harbors. But since we pay our share in the sugar-coated form of tariff revenues and internal revenue, the outgo is not so apparent and our incentive to keep a vigilant eye on the Washington spenders not so keen.

When, however, a government official wearing the badge of the tax-gatherer waits upon the citizen once a year and takes an appreciable slice out of the latter's income, from that day forward said citizen is apt to scan the government budget and congressional expenditures with a jealous eye. The fact is brought home to him that it is his money being spent or misspent. Heretofore many of us had viewed federal appropriations as coming from some cryptic and mythical source concerning us personally in only a vague sort of way.

The income tax is going to jab the pocket-nerve. Therefore, the income tax is going to wake up a good many influential citizens in this country. It is true that the impost will be levied, probably, only on incomes of $5,000 a year and more. But there are enough people in America in this class to constitute a fair-sized and aggressive audience.

Other features of the tax are, of course, commendable in the extreme. The burden of government, with its yearly increasing expense and facilities, is now likely to be apportioned more justly. The under dog will find his load less heavy. The enjoyer of a bloated income will be called upon to contribute according to his ability. Steps already being considered to lessen the inquisitorial feature of the tax are fortunately directed.

PUT TIPS ON THE BILL.

Shall the public tip the employer or employee? That is the salient feature of an unusual communication published in another column in which the writer, who writes as one with authority, endows what seems a trivial issue with a strong economic significance.

He says, correctly, that many of the persons who would be affected by the anti-tipping campaign are underpaid from the standpoints of service rendered and the positive needs of livelihood. He cites plenty of instances in which servants who wait upon the public are paid considerably less than day laborers; and yet, upon these scanty returns thousands of them have to support families.

In the long run, society must pay adequately for service, whether the waiter or the shop girl, or face the penalty in some direction. If it skimps or rewards unjustly at one angle, compensation is exacted at another.

This suggests the question: Should not the amount spent ordinarily in tips be instead added on to the regular bill for services rendered or value received? That would put the matter on a legitimate basis and relieve the patron of the feeling he now too often has of being "held up." Numbers of people would infinitely prefer paying their way in this open fashion rather than, as at present, being clubbed or intimidated.

Reform even of this nature must, however, take cognizance of individual avarice and individual willingness to take advantage of it. Even were all waiters sufficiently compensated, there would be still a few willing to accept gratuities; and a few patrons willing to buy favoritism. Readjustment depends, as The Constitution has stated, upon public sentiment courageous enough to make tipping unconventional. When that is done the matter will right itself from the economic angle.

SELF-RESTRAINT.

Today begins the season of Lent observed by many of the Christian denominations. For forty days church members are assumed to practice some sacrifice in eating, drinking, spending or other channels, with sufficient faithfulness to bring home to them the religious significance of the occasion.

The self-restraint implied in the custom might well be borrowed by all men and women irrespective of creed. Most of those of us who can afford it eat too much; some drink too much; some smoke too much; some spend more than is good for them; some back-bite overtime; some lose rather than keep tempers.

Wouldn't this be a more tolerable world if all its wayfarers observed Lent in some manner? And, who can tell? The habit of control, once launched, might abide to the permanent profit of all parties!

College Professors

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

There are two kinds of college professors. One kind teaches things and the other kind learns things.

The college professor who teaches things cords up as much knowledge as he will hold and then retires behind a pair of spectacles and a desk and peddles out said knowledge to ten generations of college students for $3,000 a year. At the end of this time his relatives wake him up in order to bury him. Professors of this kind differ from text books only because of the fact that they are self-propelling. The college professor who learns things acquires all the knowledge that the past has provided and then begins prying into the future and dislodging huge masses of unclassified information. He is the explorer of philosophy, the skirmisher in religion, the sapper and miner against superstition and the personal conductor of science. In all parts of the world professors are leading human knowledge by the hand into unknown regions and introducing it to new elements, strange and fancy breeds of molecules and recipes for prosperity, which have lain undisturbed since man first began to walk around the earth and make a loud but fitful noise. The college professor's knowledge begins where the ordinary man leaves off and extends to the end of the line beyond which he is always at work with blasting powder. A college professor was the first man to peer through the vest and collar bones of a personal friend by the aid of the X-Rays. Out in Iowa and Kansas college professors have established an aristocracy of corn which has enabled the farmers to earn an automobile per year apiece. A Boston professor discovered the method of shipping conversation by wire. Another professor began to study politics some years ago and will soon move into the white house against the express will of a large number of practical politicians in order to pursue his investigations further. And he will not be the first professor to occupy the white house, either.

"He wears a cap and gown and leaves his umbrella on the street car."

Many people laugh at the college professor because he wears a cap and gown and leaves his umbrella in the street car. But the real college professor is so far ahead of the laughers in wisdom that when he tries to talk to them they have to hire interpreters to cut his remarks down into words of six syllables.

Character Cameos

By Robert V. Carr

Do you know anyone like this?

Type No. 61.—Drayman. Age 40. Dark and swarthy. Head small and forehead receding. Ears pointed and set close to head, with lobes hardly perceptible. Lips thick, and mouth crooked. Small, pudgy nose. Thick neck and sloping shoulders. Long arms. Hands short and thick, with deformed finger nails. Ignorant and brutal. Cruel to his horses. Curses constantly. Brutal to family. Imagines that he is a bad man to arouse. Proud of his strength, and throws trunks on his dray with a certain see-how-strong-I-am air. Forever discussing his rights as an American citizen, but seldom considers the rights of his bedraggled wife or cringing children.

Comment.—Most men feel a desire to hurt No. 61, to take a club and knock some decency into him. But a brutal man cannot be reformed by brutality, any more than a murderer can be reformed by being legally murdered. No. 61 is a man with the mind of a vicious child, and should be treated as such. The only hope for such men is through the state realizing that, although such a creature has the body of an adult, he has the mind of a child; and to protect the innocent, he should be cared for and treated as a child. In his brutality and ignorance, he probably suffers more than his helpless family. Such creatures should be taken in kindly charge by the state. Otherwise they will inflict untold suffering upon innocent children and helpless women. Brutality toward and punishment of the brutal and ignorant only serves to lower the general standard of morality and decency. Education, kindness and firm restraint are the only proper methods.

The Balkans threaten to resume hostilities, and we may have to pronounce all those outlandish names over again.

The Young Turks want another chance to prove that they haven't reached the age of discretion.

Because there are no keep-off-the-grass signs the office-seekers shouldn't tear up the earth in their race for the open door.

As to the parcel post, the people are demonstrating that they know just how to ride a good horse to death.

Can't blame the fruit crop-killer—the weather has given him such a warm welcome.

Only the office-seekers will refrain from jumping on a tame inauguration with both feet.

These farewell dinners interfere with President Taft's program for reducing his weight.

New News of Yesterday

HANS VON BULOW AND HIS MARVELOUS MEMORY

By E. J. Edwards.

(Copyrighted, 1913, for The Constitution.)

This daily series of anecdotes and incidents that throw new, interesting and frequently dramatic light on famous events and personalities of the past have been collected by Mr. Edwards during nearly forty years of more or less intimate acquaintance with many of the country's leaders since the civil war. Each anecdote or incident is fresh from Mr. Edwards' notebook, and, either in whole or in part, it constitutes NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY, garnered from the men who made the news—the history—or from equally authoritative sources. As important contributions of the "human interest" sort to American history, these articles have a distinctive value all their own.

In 1888 and in the early part of 1889, Hans Von Bulow, the piano virtuoso, visited the United States professionally. He was engaged to direct one of the greatest orchestras of the United States in a series of concerts, both in New York and in some of our other large cities.

E. J. Edwards.

Von Bulow's reputation had preceded him. He was recognized as one of the great musical intellectual forces of Germany. His prodigious achievements as a pianist had given him a fame in Europe the echoes of which had reached the United States.

Furthermore, there was a romantic interest in Von Bulow by reason of the fact that he was son-in-law of Franz Liszt, the world's greatest pianist. Having separated from his wife, she became, later, the wife of Richard Wagner.

Von Bulow was reported to have learned all of the operas composed by Wagner by heart. Whatever domestic troubles he may have had were not allowed to interfere with his professional relations with Wagner.

I met Von Bulow in the lobby of the hotel at Boston at which he was staying in the early winter of 1889. He was at that time in Boston for the purpose of conducting an orchestral concert. His prestige and fame attracted very large audiences to these concerts. I was introduced to Von Bulow by a common friend. He was a little man, with an enormous head, vastly disproportionate to his slight body and slender legs. His eyelids were drooping, and this gave him a sad expression. He wore a very blond mustache and imperial, and what was left of his hair was of a golden-brown tint.

After my brief meeting with Von Bulow, our friend said to me:

"I think the marvelous thing about this man is his peculiar memory. In ordinary things he appears to have no more than an average memory, but he has something like a miraculous power for memorizing music. I once heard that Lord Macaulay could memorize the contents of an entire book by a single reading, but that is nothing in comparison with Von Bulow's gifts. I have seen him take the conductor's stand, to direct an orchestra through one of Beethoven's symphonies with no score of the music before him. He knew it all by heart, and knew the part which each of the instruments had to take. I asked him the other day if that was the only one of Beethoven's symphonies which he knew by heart, and in reply he told me that he knew every one of them, and had committed them all to memory by a single reading of the complicated score. I asked him if he knew the score of Wagner's operas. He smiled and said, with an amusing shrug of the shoulder: 'Yes, all of them. But that is nothing; just like learning a song.'

"I attended a rehearsal of the orchestra which Von Bulow was conducting a day or two ago. It was one of Beethoven's symphonies. The orchestra was a very large one. It contained every instrument appropriate for orchestra work. Von Bulow had no score in front of him when he took the conductor's platform. Suddenly in the first movement of the symphony he rapped with his baton for the orchestra to stop playing. Then he turned to one of the double-bass players—there were four in all—and said to him: 'You played a wrong note there! It should have been such-and-such a note. You played a half tone higher.'

"The entire orchestra heard this statement with amazement. The musicians then realized that their leader knew every note of the entire symphony and every note played by every individual instrument, and not only had detected a wrong note, but had pointed out what should have been played.

"I think this was proof of as marvelous a feat of memory as has ever been recorded."

Tomorrow Mr. Edwards will tell "How 'Prince John' Van Buren Made History."

TIME

By George Matthew Adams.

"The reason I beat the Austrians is they didn't know the value of five minutes."—Napoleon.

Learn to use your Time.

For if you don't it passes on, never to return—coldly mindless of your sorrow and your regret.

As steadily, silently and smoothly as does this aged Earth move in its path, so does Time pass on. It never stops to tie its shoestrings. It never waits.

Time is Effort, harnessed and worked to a full day's portion.

Time has no business, boasts no monied millions, hires no fast-legged errand boys, houses no clerks, thinks no problems, rules no states. Time IS business, money, the errand boy, the clerk, the problem, the State!

Time is but the man in the job put to action and to work.

And Time used to profit Today will accumulate Power for you Tomorrow just as sure as time goes on. Meditate not on Trifles. Attempt big tasks. Remembering that—

This day will never dawn again!

And yet, mighty as Time is, priceless in comparison to all else in the world, Time is the freest thing in existence. Perhaps that is why so many fail to grasp it with earnestness and with enthusiasm? Perhaps that is why so few realize its presence and let it pass on?

Think! No matter what your work today, if it is worth while at all—Time to plan it out, Time to do it well, and Time to finish it, is your day's greatest gift and your greatest job.

The World's Mysteries

WHERE DID CAPTAIN KIDD BURY HIS TREASURE?

For more than two hundred years an effort has been made to ascertain where the dashing Captain Kidd buried his treasures, and various expeditions have been sent out in search of the great wealth that it is supposed this English pirate has hidden somewhere along the American coast. Within recent years an unsuccessful effort was undertaken to locate it in the Chester Basin, Nova Scotia. The reason for looking about this section is given in that during one of his piratical cruises Captain Kidd landed at Oak Island, in this basin, and it is believed buried there vast sums of treasure, consisting of gold and jewels. It is estimated that if this treasure is ever found, those who are successful will be rewarded to the extent of at least $10,000,000.

During the latter part of the seventeenth century the American coast was alive with pirates, who not only robbed every vessel that came within their reach, but also blocked traffic in a most deplorable way. One of the most daring of these pirates was Captain William Kidd. Kidd was the son of a Scotch minister, and took to the sea in early life. At first he was employed by the British government to assist them in stamping out piracy, and he was so successful that the English king styled him "Our well beloved and trusty William Kidd." But after a few honest adventures, he mysteriously disappeared. Nothing directly was heard of him for some time, and when news finally came it was in no way to his credit, for rumor accused him of having turned pirate himself and of being one of the most daring and dangerous that the sailing vessels had to contend with.

The English government resolved to capture Kidd at any cost, and when he heard of their decision he was cruising along the Spanish Main. Leaving his ship at Hayti, on a small sloop laden with $70,000 worth of treasure and a small crew of forty, he sailed north, and was next heard of as having landed at Oyster Bay, L. I. It would seem that he had confederates on this side of the water, for he gained the privilege of landing, and was not only received by English officials in New York city, but he was allowed to proceed from there to Boston to talk matters over.

But here the authorities arrested him, and he was packed back to England to stand trial for piracy. The treasure of the pirate sloop was also seized. At home he could not be convicted of piracy, for some unaccountable reason, and his trial on that charge was somewhat of a farce, for the English court rushed it through with suspicious haste and a lack of justice.

He was, however, accused of having killed a mutinous sailor named William Moon, whom he hit over the head with a bucket. He was found guilty of murder, and was hanged on May 24, 1707, as were also nine of his crew.

The treasure which was captured at Oyster Bay was considered to be only a small part of what he possessed, and it became rumored about that so vast was the treasure that he had accumulated that it was his habit to put to shore every now and then to unload. For a long time it was supposed that he used Long Island as his treasure vault, and searching parties began to examine the island and the shores of Hudson Bay. But it was not until years afterward that men who were able to argue the subject from a more sane point of view explained to those who were less level-headed that even to have stolen $70,000 worth of gold and jewels in so short a time and under such difficult circumstances was a remarkable record in itself.

When Kidd took to the sea to destroy the pirates it was at the suggestion and through the support of an English syndicate, which was headed by the Earl of Bellomont, who in the meantime had become the royal governor of both New York and Massachusetts. The most mysterious part of the adventures of Captain Kidd were that under the circumstances he should not have been allowed to land on Long Island, and been received by them in New York, unless his outrages had been sanctioned by them. Bellomont was very close to William III. of England, and yet it could hardly be conceived that the king of England and the governor of two of the greatest American provinces could have lent themselves knowingly to so nefarious a piracy expedition. About the whole life of Captain Kidd as a pirate there is the deepest kind of mystery.

Why We Stay Put

By Sam W. Small.

An Irishman visiting in the Norfolk navy yard was curiously looking at the great anchor of a battleship. As the huge grappler lay upon the wharf he gazed upon it so as to attract the attention of a sentinel, who asked:

"Why are you looking at that thing so hard?"

"Begorry," said Pat, "Oi wud loike to see the mon that can shwing thot pick!"

Likewise I am curiously waiting to see the man that is going to "break the solid south."

I have been reading advance notices of this Unknown's coming for many years, but always he missed connection somewhere north of Mason and Dixon's line, and as yet the solid south remains unbusted, and seemingly unbustable!

Just now we are getting a fresh bunch of prophecies of the ways and means, and the man (en masque) who is to perform the modern miracle of dividing the democratic solidarity of Dixieland.

Perhaps you have read the impressive ideas on this subject that Bre'r Frank Munsey has projected in his magazine, and the brill'ant thoughts thereon that have been emitted in speech and articles by Bounding Beveridge of Indiana. They are the leading seers of the predicated forthcoming secession in the solid south.

But, after all, it is to laugh!

To get down to brass tacks, those gentlemen and their consociates of the new progressive party are yet largely ignorant as to both the genesis and genius of the solid south as a political institution.

President Hayes, with the collusion of the republican leaders, created the solid south when, in 1877, he threw out of the state capitols in Louisiana and South Carolina the men who had committed the electoral crimes of 1876 that elevated Hayes himself into the white house.

The radical republicans wanted then, and have wanted ever since, that the south should be solidly democratic. They believed that such solidarity would be an asset to them in appealing for an equally solid republican north.

The diabolical wisdom of their judgment in that respect has been fully vindicated by the general election returns from northern and western states during the last thirty years.

The south, with only an occasional republican victory in Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina, accounted for by temporary local conditions, has remained democratic. Our people have seen in all those years no reason or strong inducement to be otherwise.

Since the era of reconstruction our interests of local self-government have been greater than our concern for what a protective tariff might offer us or for the amount of money we could fish out of the congressional pork barrel.

The problem of the "black vote" has not passed from us as yet. It still hangs undecided yonder in the supreme court of the United States, and the renewal of its perils may come upon us any Monday by a decision of that tribunal.

Anyhow, what could the progressive party offer us that we cannot have by maintaining our democratic loyalty and solidarity? Are not all the leaders and spokesmen of this new party the same men who have heretofore been eminent and preeminent as headmen and henchmen of the old republican party? Wherein have they changed but in appetites and ambition for place and power?

Surely I cannot discern any special or novel promises of political betterment or profit to come to southern men or states by their abandonment of the democratic party to tag onto the Roosevelt-Perkins-Beveridge exodusters from the republican outfit.

There are many southern men, perhaps, who imagine that some sort of political division in the southern states would be desirable in divers ways. But experiments with such divisions—with independents, populists and other ilks in spots—have not been at all helpful and satisfying. Therefore the great mass of the southern people have settled down to the conviction that a democratic solid south is the best political condition they have known in the past or can trust for the future.

Tip or Raise Pay

Editor Constitution: I have just finished re-reading your editorial in Sunday morning's issue on "Tips," and as I have served in the capacity of bell-boy, waiter and sleeping car porter, both in the north and in the south, I feel that a word on this subject from another viewpoint might help arouse, as you say, "public sentiment."

It is surely not generally known that the wages paid the servants who fill the above-named positions are so low that unless one got hold of a "tip" now and then he would either have to quit the job, or be honest and starve to death, or dishonest and steal. Take for example the state whose legislature is passing a law now making it an offense to receive "tips"—North Carolina. The largest hotel in the most famous resort in the state is paying her waiters $15 per month, and her bellboys $8. And these rates are not only paid in the leading hotels in North Carolina, but in many others to my own knowledge.

Most of the men who fill these positions have families to support, and under the present high cost of living—with rent to pay, children to feed and clothe, medicine to buy and doctor's bills to meet, fuel and school books, church organizations to support, to say nothing of having to go neat and clean, how on earth could these men make it from month to month, aside from being laid off in dull seasons, if they did not angle for a "tip?"

Here in Atlanta, to get any kind of a decent house, you must pay from $15 to $20 per month for rent alone. They say that negroes can live cheaper than white people, hence the difference in wages for the same work, and yet I have failed so far to find a single market where I could get a pound of good steak any cheaper, or a sack of flour for anything less, or a ton of coal lower than the prices made to white customers.

When I was in the sleeping car service I ran on lines that paid $20 per month. I had to pay room rent at both ends of the line, which amounted to $10 per month, board at $15 per month, and, of course, laundry. If a towel, sheets and pillow cases were short when the trip was ended this shortage would have to come out of my pocket, notwithstanding every man in the service had the same bunch of keys to the lockers. Of course, we had to pay $22.50 for uniforms, and carry in our equipment two kinds of polish for shoes, at our expense.

Under such conditions it is wrong to hold up the servants to the scorn of the public, unless something is done to give them better pay. Such conditions have forced many of the best servants out of the service, for they had some self-respect. And I am of the opinion that this hue and cry about poor service will continue to increase unless something is done along this line, which will show that we are interested in the welfare of the servant as much as we are to get his labor.

GAIETY GIRL NOBLEMAN'S BRIDE

OLIVE MAY, now LADY PAGET

Miss Olive May, for several years the star at the Gaiety theater, has permanently retired from the stage to become the bride of Lord Victor Paget, brother of the Marquis of Anglesey. The marquis gave $5,000 each to the bride and bridegroom as wedding gifts. The new Lady Paget has been one of the most popular actresses in London for several years. She has had scores of suitors, and it is common gossip that she could have had her pick of the eligible noblemen. Miss May signed the church register as "Olive May Meatyard" and said her father was a jeweler. She is an American and is slightly older than her husband, who is 23.

TWO WIVES CLAIM THAT HUSBANDS DESERTED THEM

Both claiming desertion, Mrs. Levie Hearn and Mrs. Irene Evans entered suit for divorce yesterday in the superior court against their respective spouses.

Mrs. Hearn alleges that her wedding took place July 24, 1912, and that within six weeks her husband, Charles C. Hearn, began to drink heavily and was drunk two-thirds of the time. She says he used profane language and quarrelled continuously, so that if she had lived with him a month longer her health would have been ruined. She asks the restoration of her maiden name of Coppage.

Mrs. Evans says she was married in April, 1908, to J. A. Evans, and that in July, 1909, he deserted her and she believes he is living in Los Angeles, Cal. She asks also her maiden name of Williams.

VOCATION SCHOOL PLAN IS GIVEN SETBACK

Chicago, February 4.—The vocational school plan prepared by Edwin G. Cooley, who was sent to Europe for a year by the Commercial club, was given a setback today when a school bill prepared by a conference of Illinois organizations was made public by William G. Edens, secretary of the educational committee of the Illinois Bankers' association.

The conference bill provides that vocational training shall be furnished through the present school organization, as outlined by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, Chicago superintendent of schools. The Cooley plan provides for a separate system of schools for vocational training.

Under the conference bill plan the state will pay 50 per cent of the cost of vocational training which shall be provided not only in city schools, but in country districts where agricultural classes will be conducted. It is estimated that state aid for vocational training will amount to about $1,000,000 a year.

STEAMSHIP CUNEO DRIVES NOSE INTO SAND

New York, February 4.—With her bow pointing at right angles to the shore, the Norwegian steamship Nicholas Cuneo, laden with bananas and cocoanuts from Port Antonio, Jamaica, grounded upon the sleeping stretches of sand at Long Beach, on the south shore of Long Island, early today. When the tide receded, it left the ship with her forepart so high on the sands that life savers were able to stand under her bowsprit and read to Captain Knudson telegrams addressed to him. Seafaring men do not recall when before a ship has "piled up" on the sands in this fashion.

None of the crew of 30 men—the Cuneo is a freighter and seldom carries passengers—were in danger except for the first few hours while giant combers were sweeping over her stern. As the tide went down the waves lost their force.

Tomorrow at high tide an effort will be made to pull the Cuneo into deep water. The crew remains on board. Tonight the sea was moderate.

Storehouse Burned.

Newnan, Ga., February 4.—(Special) The storehouse of M. H. Sewell at St. Charles, 7 miles below Newnan on the Atlanta and West Point road, was destroyed by fire last night, together with its entire contents. The total loss is about $3,500, with $2,400 insurance.

Loses Leg in Accident.

Newnan, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) W. J. Lott, who was struck by a passenger train on the Atlanta and West Point road at this place Saturday morning, has lost a leg as a result of the accident. The injured member was amputated Sunday and it is believed now that he will recover.

FLOOD IS POURING ON DELTA FARMS

Beulah Crevasse 800 Feet Wide. 1,000 Square Milles Being Inundated.

Memphis, Tenn., February 4.—The crevasse in the Mississippi river levee at Beulah, Miss., is now 800 feet in width, and, with the river rising rapidly in that section, water is pouring through the opening in great volume, according to tonight's dispatches. Further caving, however, is not anticipated, the ends of the gap being composed of tough "buck shot" earth. The stretch of levee which collapsed was largely of a sandy loam. It is now estimated that approximately 1,000 square miles of farming lands will be flooded.

At the solicitation of the Mississippi delegation in congress, who were appealed to by Governor Brewer, of that state, Secretarry of War Stimson today authorized the shipment of all tents at the disposal of the Mississippi national guard to the overflowed section, where refugees are reported to be in a sorry plight because of lack of shelter. Weather conditions are the most severe of the winter, and representation was made that unless prompt action was taken, much suffering would result. The greater number of those driven from their homes are negroes.

At all other points the levees are holding. At Memphis the unofficial reading of the gauge tonight showed a fall of one-tenth in the river here today.

FINAL RECEPTION TO ARMY AND NAVY

Washington, February 4.—The president and Mrs. Taft were hosts tonight to the army and navy at a reception which marked the climax of the Taft social regime in the white house. To their last reception the president and Mrs. Taft had invited practically every one of the 2,200 officers stationed in the capital. Senators, members of the house and civilians invited numbered nearly a thousand. Hundreds of applications for tickets had been refused during the last few weeks, and the door keepers were unusually cautious in scanning cards of admission.

The president and Mrs. Taft and the members of the cabinet, with their wives, stood in the receiving line for more than two hours. The custom of allowing the guests to dance in the east room after the reception was adhered to, and the president found time to watch the dancers before he retired.

CORPSE OF EVERETT AT FOOT OF HIGH CLIFF

Cleveland, Ohio, February 4.—The body of S. Homer Everett, the young society and business man, who mysteriously disappeared Saturday night, was found this afternoon on the lake shore at the foot of a high cliff. It is believed that Everett, when taken sick at a house warming, wandered out in a daze and fell over the cliff.

When Everett stepped outside the house where he was a guest he was suffering from nose bleed, and it was supposed he would soon return.

RUNAWAY MAY BE SON OF ATLANTAN

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy Was Found Half Frozen in Muscogee.

Columbus, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Sheriff Beard today received a letter from O. S. Price, a cabinet manufacturer of Atlanta, saying that he thought a boy who was found in a road in Muscogee county several days ago, in a half-frozen condition, is his son.

Mr. Price states that his son, thirteen years old, ran away from home not long ago. The description he gives tallies with that of the boy referred to.

When found by W. W. Kendrick, by the roadside, the boy seemed in a very serious condition. He was taken to a house, warmed and revived, but pointed to his tongue and making gestures, indicated that he was deaf and dumb. Will Massey, a kind-hearted Muscogee county farmer, took the supposed deaf and dumb boy to his home. Subsequently it developed that the boy was shamming these afflictions, and he has since been talking in a normal way. He is still at the Massey home.

Women of Today Need Rest More Than Everything Else

HOW WILL THEY OBSERVE LENT?

By Isma Dooly.

By Isma Dooly.

More than once the question has been put these last few days, "Will Atlanta society observe Lent?" Nobody can tell that, for one of the delights of social life in Atlanta is the lack of uniformity; the program of one season rarely repeats itself. For instance, last year was a season of large receptions and balls, there being many of these in October and November. There were large afternoon functions and day entertainments of various kinds. This year has been a season of dinner dances and the smaller entertainments, with but few large teas and receptions and comparatively few luncheons. Card parties have diminished in number, and there have been few theater parties of formal nature.

Therefore, to answer the questions whether the pretty debutante will "wear sack cloth" in the sense of withdrawing herself from worldly pleasures would be rather dificult, for her having done so last year would not influence her program this year.

It is safe to say, however, that what one does all will do, for there is much esprit de corps in the matter of the social program among Atlanta's young women.

The younger element themselves have had little to say about it; they have scarcely had time to think, but there are many ready to advise a course which would be conducive to good health, as well as to religious spirit.

Way of the Old-Fashioned Girl.

Now the way of the old-fashioned girl was one most edifying during the Lenten season, and grandmothers and prim aunts, and those of the elder gentlemen who like to talk of old times, will commend the old-fashoned girl, who actually changed the very expression of her face during the "forty days." Those who did not observe the season from a strictly religious viewpoint did so with a view to a kind of spiritual stock-taking of themselves, and the result was an excellent one, so say those who practiced it.

"I liked the season of Lent," confessed one woman, who did not mind acknowledging she could remember as far back as the time when people at times withdrew from the world, "because the practice was conducive to poise."

"It gave a woman time to brush up spiritually, mentally and physically, and incidentally to look after her clothes. It was almost bad form for society folk to go to the theater, and they seldom gave balls and parties between the time of Ash Wednesday and the glorious Easter Day. The only gatherings were for church purposes, to sew for the poor, or classes in browning or cooking.

Browning Class And Cooking.

"I class browning with cooking, for the reason that there seemed to be the idea that anything in the way of deep intellectural pursuit or in the way of practical things were wrong in Lent. The browning classes flourished and cooking classes were largely attended.

"Literature of a serious nature was affected, and many young women read only religious books during Lenten time.

Long-neglected letters were written, and it was the time when the hair was given systematic treatment, also the skin; and women took long daily walks for the health, and called upon their elderly friends or the sick.

And Lovers Liked It.

"Lovers liked the Lenten season," continued this interesting woman, "because it gave them more time for uninterrupted courting. There is no doubt about it that the girl of today misses much of the old-time romance that led to pressing flowers, writing poetry and working bookmarks. Her time is so much taken up with going that she has not time for the happy flirtations which used to be the most favored pastimes of the young contingent.

"I have always felt that the old idea of a 'young man's fancy turning to love in the springtime,' was not so much the influence of spring as it was that spring followed the old-time observance of Lent when young people would spend evenings alone together, letting the logs in the big fireplace burn low, and sometimes depending only upon the light of the moon shining in. Propinquity always was and always will be a dangerous thing, and Lent was far more conducive to propinquity, in the olden time, than it is today.

Poise Is Needed By Women.

But aside from this old romance that Lent frequently ushered in, there was the influence of the quietude, which tended to make the woman of the olden time better poised than her sister of today.

Though it is no business of our British cousins to criticise us always, for our lack of poise, we know the thinkers of our own dear young republic are quite right when they urge upon us all to call a halt. We are going too fast, they cry. We can't keep up with ourselves. They would have us take not just forty days, but forty weeks of Lenten observance to acquire that poise they say we lack. Our faces are becoming prematurely lined, they declare; our eyes less bright, and our steps less graceful because we are running along breathlessly, not giving our bodies time to relax; our minds time to expand, and our spirits time to work out its scheme, to say nothing of letting Cupid catch up, since there are those who think even he does not get his inning.

Poise and balance are charming attributes of woman. They are her great power if she only knew it, and it is a question right now if she had not better stop everything else for a moment and reach out for the time, the rest, the moment with self, which would bring the poise to help us through this awful unrest of today.

To Miss McEvoy.

Miss Nina Gentry will entertain at bridge Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss McEvoy, of Baltimore, the guest of Mrs. Brutus Clay.

To Misses Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cowles entertained at bridge last night in compliment to their cousins, Misses Lucy and Mattie Lamb, who have recently come from Norfolk to reside in Atlanta.

The affair was a delightful one of three tables, the score cards, hearts and Cupids, and the valentine idea was prettily carried out in decorative detail.

The guests were seated for supper at a large table in the dining room, the centerpiece of red roses. The place cards and favors were valentine suggestions, and candies and ices were red hearts and Cupids. The prizes were a sandalwood fan and a copper ash tray.

Mrs. Cowles was becomingly gowned in pink chiffon.

Mrs. Mullin's Reception.

A beautiful entertainment yesterday was the afternoon reception given by Mrs. John H. Mullin at her home on Highland avenue.

Receiving with Mrs. Mullin were Mrs. William T. Healey, Mrs. L. C. Green and Mrs. Fletcher Mullin, and they were grouped in the reception room before a luxuriant arrangement of tall palms.

Smilax and palms were used with taste throughout the house, and in the dining room the table was picturesque in pink and white against elaborate appointment in silver. The centerpiece was of Killarney roses and hyacinths, and a bisque Cupid suspended from the chandelier in the midst of a shower of asparagus fern, was a pretty feature of valentine suggestion. An orchestra presented a bright program of music.

Mrs. Mullin was gowned in white satin charmeuse with tunic of black lace and a trimming of rhinestones. Mrs. Green wore flame-colored satin veiled with black charmeuse. Mrs. Healey was gowned in black charmeuse and lace. Mrs. Fletcher Mullin wore white satin trimmed with chiffon and silver.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. W. W. Rushton, Mrs. Edwin Pascal, Mrs. John Knapp and Mrs. Percy Blackshear. Mrs. Charles B. Walker and Mrs. Alexander Houston poured tea.

Homely and Aged Faces Now Easily Beautified

(Aunt Sally in Woman's Realm.)

I have seen the plainest women made beautiful and the complexions of good looking women improved—I've seen oldish faces made young and pretty, blemished and weather-beaten faces made spotless, white and satiny—in less than two weeks, by a very simple and harmless process that acts almost like a miracle. This is all there is to it: Ordinary mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (one ounce will do), is applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings. This gradually peels off the lifeless particles of surface skin, permitting the underlying skin to show itself. The newer, fresher skin, when wholly in evidence, forms a complexion which for beauty and youthfulness is incomparable with one produced by other means. A complexion so natural, so free from artificiality, no one guesses the secret of its acquirement. You'll not regret trying this really marvelous treatment.

Equally wonderful is the famous saxolite formula for removing wrinkles. One ounce powdered saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this immediately erases the finer lines. Gradually even the deeper furrows and crow's feet vanish completely.

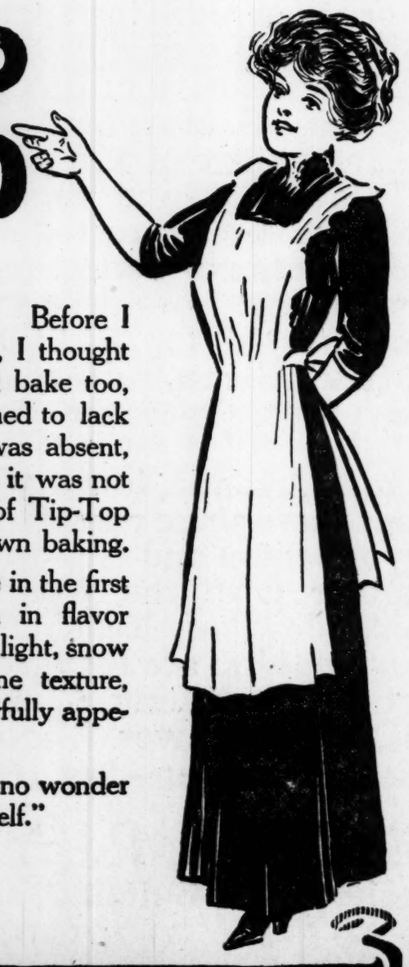
"Notice the Name"

TIP-TOP BREAD



and it really is "tip-top." Before I discovered Tip-Top Bread, I thought I could bake—and I could bake too, but my bread always seemed to lack "something." The flavor was absent, the crust was not right, or it was not baked through. One trial of Tip-Top proved it better than my own baking.

"Why is it better? Because in the first place, it is always uniform in flavor and quality, and again, it is light, snow white, close grained, of fine texture, easily digested and wonderfully appetizing."

"No wonder I buy it and no wonder we all like it. Try it yourself."

MRS. SLATON CALLS MEETING OF MUSICAL ASSOCIATION

Mrs. John M. Slaton, president of the Atlanta Musical association, calls a general meeting of the asosciation members, guarantors and the public who are interested in the symphony orchestra movement, for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the assembly room of the Piedmont hotel.

The success of the orchestra this season, its growth in patronage and popularity, and the success which has greeted the members of the executive board who assumed the raising of the guarantee fund, will make the meeting a kind of jubilation, and a large attendance is expected.

VETERANS OF DIXIE AT CORN EXPOSITION

Columbia, S. C., February 4.—One of the largest crowds of visitors since the opening Monday a week ago, attended the fifth National Corn exposition here today, to view the educational exhibits and to attend the special corn day program, which was carried out this afternoon.

An interesting incident today was the attendance upon the exposition of the veterans from the confederate soldiers' home here. The veterans accepted an invitation from the exposition management to spend the day at the exposition, and the local street railway company placed at their services a special car for transportation to and from the grounds. About sixty veterans, wearing their gray uniforms and their bronze crosses of honor, spent the day in the buildings.

The exposition management stated tonight that there were a larger number of farmers at the exposition today than have been present on any of preceding days.

C. C. Clark, chief clerk of the department of agriculture, spent several hours on the grounds today, and another visitor of interest was Seefereno Dominguez, a prominent planter of Mexico, who will deliver an address at the exposition during the next few days.

Tomorrow at the exposition will begin a series of rural life conferences, lasting through Friday.

CASTRO TO ADDRESS NEW YORK CITIZENS

New York, February 4.—Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, who is awaiting under bail in this city a hearing in federal court in his effort to remain in the United States in spite of the ruling of Secretary Nagel, continued today to spend his waking hours in his hotel room overlooking Central park. The general received several visitors.

It was announced tonight that General Castro will be the principal speaker Thursday night at a meeting to be held in an east side hall under the auspices of the "citizens' Castro protest conference."

BAPTIST LAYMEN IN CONVENTION

Nearly One Thousand Delegates Present at Opening Session.

Chattanooga, Tenn., February 4.—With between 750 and 1,000 delegates already in the city and the majority yet to arrive, the opening session of the first laymen's missionary convention of the Southern Baptist convention was opened in this city this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The program was somewhat disarranged by the absence of Governor Ben W. Hooper, of Nashvile, and Mayor Thompson, who were to have delivered the addresses of welcome.

The opening devotions were conducted by General Secretary J. T. Henderson, of Bristol, who introduced the permanent president of the convention, the Hon. Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, Md.

The principal address of welcome was delivered by the Rev. J. C. Massee, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Chattanooga, and the response by A. Y. Ford, of Louisville, for eleven years the managing editor of The Courier-Journal.

Following this, Dr. Henderson delivered an address on "Why Are We Here?"

W. J. Williamson, of St. Louis, spoke at 3:30 o'clock on "The Dynamic of Missions," this being followed by an address on "The Memorial Mission in America," by President E. M. Poteat, of Furman university, South Carolina.

For the convention year, May 1, 1912, to May 1, 1913, the Southern Baptists are raising $618,000 for foreign missions' current expenses. Of this amount it was reported at the conference today, $154,000 was raised by February 1 of this year.

The conference here was taken up with the rendition of very favorable reports from all the states in the south and a general discussion as to plans for the future.

General Secretary R. J. Willingham was in charge of the conference and the following state vice presidents were present:

J. L. Gross, Texas; W. F. Yarborough, Alabama; S. B. Calloway, New Mexico; H. A. Bagby, Missouri; I. P. Trotter, Mississippi; W. A. Hamlett, Oklahoma; W. C. Tyree, North Carolina; Ben Cox, Tennessee; W. A. Rusan, Illinois; H. L. Winburn, Arkansas; C. A. Owens, Florida; Cecil V. Cook, Kentucky, and Joshua Levering, Maryland.

Besides these there were present C. J. Thompson, of North Carolina, field secretary; T. B. Ray, of Virginia, educational secretary; W. E. Wilkins, South Carolina, laymen's secretary; C. D. Gray, of Tennessee, field secretary.

KING GEORGE V. WRITES TO AMERICAN PILGRIMS

New York, February 4.—"I cherish the earnest hope that your gathering may emphasize the corcial relations that we know exist between Britain and Canadian and American," wrote King George V. of England in a message to the pilgrims of the United States, read at their tenth annual dinner in this city tonight. The king extended "greetings and best wishes for a delightful reunion."

Other messages of good will, read by Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, the toastmaster, were from Field Marshal Earl Roberts, Sir Thomas Lipton, Captain Clement Creatorex of the British cruiser Natal, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and Queen Alexandra's private secretary. Several hundred citizens of England and this country joined in the banquet of fellowship. Henry E. Brittain represented Field Marshal Roberts, president of the Pilgrims of Great Britain.

Diplomacy still will be employed, Mr. Choate declared, to insure friendly relations between the two countries, and arbitration will be used successfully when differences cannot be settled through diplomacy.

Other speakers were Bishop Boyd Carpenter, canon of Westminster; Sir Ernest Shackleton, the explorer, and President John H. Finley, of the city college of New York.

BURIAL OF JOHN NEAL AT OLD THOMSON HOME

The funeral of John Neal, the pioneer Atlanta merchant, occurred yesterday afternoon from his late residence on North avenue, Rev. V. C. Norcross conducting the services. The body will be taken to his old home, Thomson, Ga., where the burial will take place in the family cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Neal was a man of wide acquaintance and many friends. He came to Atlanta in 1868 from Warrenton, Ga., representing his county in the legislature. He liked Atlanta so well that he stayed here after the expiration of his term in the legislature, engaging in business. He was at one time president of the Atlanta Savings bank, and he was an extensive real estate holder and a prominent furniture dealer. His demise closed a long and useful career.

Four prizes have been offered for the best dancers. The proceeds of the occasion will be for the benefit of the widows and orphans' fund of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The committee in charge is composed of H. J. Vallmer, chairman; E. Walter Tripp, J. J. Barnes, Jr., M. M. Kelly, Hugh Mathews, C. C. Arnold, T. P. Holland, S. R. Green and W. Thomas Winn.

IS NEWSOME'S MURDERER IN TOILS OF THE LAW?

Foster Harris, a young negro laborer, who lives at 72 Cain street, was arrested last night by Policeman W. C. Patrick on Marietta street, on suspicion of being the negro who stabbed H. D. Newsome Saturday night on Whitehall street. He was lodged in jail, and several policemen have partially identified him. He denies all knowledge of the crime.

MYSTERIOUS MAN HUNTS DETECTIVE

Arrives With Bonanza Offer for E. S. Reed, but "Dictagraph Expert" Is Gone.

Declaring that he wanted to employ E. S. Reed as sleuth in a case of national importance, and that he would pay him $50 a day and all expenses if he could only find him, a mysterious and determined man arrived in Atlanta yesterday. He searched in vain for Reed has disappeared from the city, with a trail of unpaid debts behind him, while the E. S. Reed National Detective agency had been wrecked on the shoals of failure.

When the train from Nashville pulled into Atlanta Tuesday morning, the man stepped into the depot, and wearing a fur coat and carrying an expensive suitcase, he made his way uptown. He went straight to the Candler building to the offices of the E. S. Reed detective agency. He found the office stripped of its mahogany furniture and velvet carpets, with which Reed had started off business luxuriously last fall, and was told that the occupants had departed for the tall timbers.

"Reed is just downed for the moment," said the man. "He's a great detective, who can make enough money in a month to pay back all his Atlanta debts if he is only given a chance. I've got that chance to offer him in this job, at $50 a day and expenses, and he's the man that can do the work if I can only find him."

But he hasn't found him yet, and, according to a report Tuesday night, he left Atlanta for the north, by way of Nashville, without ever revealing the details of his extraordinary and mysterious mission.

BOND COMMISSION NAMED BY WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—At a meeting of council tonight, so largely attended by citizens that the city hall was packed, the bond commission question was thoroughly aired, and, despite the vigorous opposition, brought to bear on an amendment introduced by Alderman S. T. Beaton, a change was made in the original resolution. This change specifies the duties of the commission, and removes any misunderstanding that might exist as to what jurisdiction the commission has over the city's bond money.

The commission, as elected, is composed of J. T. Watt, Warren Lott and W. H. Buchanan.

A motion of Alderman Beaton to divide the bond money between two banks, the First national and the Citizens' brought on quite a debate, in which President L. J. Cooper, of the National, and Vice President M. L. Bunn, of the Citizens' participated. Mr. Cooper contended that inasmuch as the National was the city depository, it should get all of the bond deposit.

The Citizens' bank representative stated that the Citizens' would handle the account satisfactory for the city.

Mr. Myrick is expected to arrive in Atlanta next Saturday night, and while in the city he will be treated royally by the ad men. The dinner gathering was enjoyed by about thirty-five members of the Atlanta Ad Men's club Tuesday.

Mr. Milroy left last night for Florida.

Train Strikes Child.

The little fellow was caught on the track by a train, and run over receiving injuries that may prove fatal. His parents came here with him.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—(adv.)

FUNNY MAN MUST BE SERIOUS TO BE FUNNY, SAYS FIELDS

"There are times when it is a very serious thing to have the reputation of being a funny man," remarked Lew Fields, the famous comedian, at the Piedmont hotel Tuesday afternoon. "People think because a fellow does funny things on the stage, that he must look funny and say funny things all the time. Some of them even get disappointed when they see a comedian dressed like other folks."

"Right you are," remarked his partner, Joe Weber. "I have felt embarrassed by a lot of school girls looking at me and giggling all the time."

"I am going to write a book on the 'Art of Being Funny' some day," stated Mr. Fields as he made a memorandum in his note book. "What is it to be funny, anyway? What does a comedian have to do to make people laugh? In the first place, he must not let his audience know that he is trying to be funny. He must be serious, for the audience must discover the fun for themselves. Audiences are very jealous of their right of discovery. The more serious you get, the more laughter follows. An actor has to watch his audience like a school-teacher watching a class of restless boys. He must know the very moment that his lines are flat or when what he is doing is not a-taking. Then he must switch off, and switch quick, and in a way that will not be discovered. Joe and I never say the same thing the same way. We keep on the same foundation, but at each performance say something new. And you've got to keep clear of the clown business."

"Being funny on the stage," added Mr. Weber, "grows to be a habit. I have gone on the stage some nights feeling so sick that a joke or funny stunt was the last thing I wanted to fool with, and just as soon as I stepped before the footlights the habit came upon me strong, and I went right along as if I was in the best of spirits. A good audience is a great incentive. Audiences are different, you know. One night you will strike a crowd that is ready to laugh at any old thing. At another time the audience takes a whole lot of coaching to warm up. I remember on one occasion when the spectators seemed to have come from Peru, which is the next thing to Chili, and I warmed it up by telling Lew not to break my funny bone, as I made my living with it.

"And that funny-bone joke," said Mr. Fields, "must have been as old as the kind Samson used on the Philistines."

"Do you fellows ever laugh at each other on the stage?" the famous comedians were asked.

"We certainly do," they both replied.

"I had a good laugh at Joe Monday night," said Mr. Fields. "He rung in a joke on me that the audience could not appreciate in its entirety and I had to stop and laugh. It was a joke on the audience, you might say."

Lew Fields and Joe Weber have been playing together for 38 years, but they are still young men, for they went on the stage together when they were only seven years of age. They ran away from school to join a theatrical troupe.

LITTLE CHILDREN ALMOST DEVOURED BY MONSTERS

Four Little Ones, Members of Two Families, Are Saved From Inevitable Death by "Quaker"

Two more remarkable cases were brought to the attention of the Health Teacher when here, which serve to prove that worms are the cause of over 60 per cent of all ailments of children, which has been the contention since the Health Teacher has been here. Mrs. A. L McClendon, living at 175 Kelley street, has three children, one 6 years old, one 10 years, and one 13. All were in a weak, puny, run-down condition, restless at night, nervous and fretful, and were listless, not having ambition to even play. They would eat very little food, and were the source of much anxiety to their fond mother. Mrs. McClendon procured a treatment of Quaker Extract from Coursey & Munn's drug store and after giving it to her babies for about two weeks, says they are all as redcheeked and rosy, and full of real life, as any children she ever saw. They eat almost anything they can get and are gaining strength right along. One of them, the oldest, expelled a large number of stomach worms soon after beginning the se of Quaker Extract. The other case is that of the dear little 5-year-old daughter of Mr. E. Robbinson, living at 463 Bass street, who is a motorman in this city. His little one, who had been complaining of pains in the stomach, restlessness and languid feeling, expelled a great stomach worm, over 7 inches in length. With this proof that their child was the victim of these parasites the parents began to give the little girl worm syrups, candies, powders and various parasite expellers (so-called), but there were no more worms of any kind passed. Still the child became worse right along. The mother got a bottle of Quaker Extract from Coursey & Munn's drug store, and after taking but four doses, his baby passed over 24 large stomach worms, averaging about four inches in length, and all of which were alive. This had been the entire cause of her very alarming condition, and Quaker, by expelling the cause, had created a complete cure for all her symptoms. Now, if your children are pale, puny, restless at night, nervous during the day, picking at their nose, gritting their teeth, listless and having pains in the stomach, with a poor appetite, don't you think you owe it to them and yourself to get rid of all the trouble? And now that school days are here they will need even more energy, more ambition and courage, which can only be displayed by a real, live, healthy, normal child. Get some of the wonderful Quaker Extract, which will put the little ones of your family in a normal state of health, and rid their systems of all worms or germs that may be infesting them. The price is six for $5.00, three for $2.50 or $1.00 a bottle.

Call today at Coursey & Munn's Drug Store, 29 Marietta street, for these wonderful Quaker Remedies. We prepay express charges on all orders of $3.00 or over.

ANSLEY PARK LOTS

10% down and $25 month is letting the young man have a chance and he is surely partaking of the opportunity.

$15,000 worth of them closed up yesterday.

And our office has worked like beavers to wait upon the people who wanted plats and price.

Just two or three more instances of some of the advances while Ansley Park was still in course of construction.

Lots 10 to 13 inclusive in Block 9 sold for an average of $24 a foot, John E. Murphey being the purchaser. He sold them for an average of $75 per foot, more than trebling his money. This was a long time ago. Since then handsome homes have been erected and these same lots have again doubled in value or better.

In the same block, Lot 8 was sold for $3,200. Shortly afterward it was resold for $4,000. Recently, the present owners, the Misses Glenn, refused $12,000 for that same lot, practically four times the cost price and all within a few years.

On Piedmont Avenue, lots that were originally sold for $11 a front foot have since resold for $50 per foot and better.

But every Atlantan and Georgian who reads the newspapers is familiar with the wonderful profits that have been made in Ansley Park Realty.

In the new addition are Playgrounds for the little folk and the grownups, Golf Link, Club House, Tennis Courts, Polo Grounds, Water, Sewer, Electric Lights and in fact all improvements. Call us up--Ivy 1600.

DERANGED BY GRIEF, OFFICER KILLS SELF

Policeman Hemphill Secures 30-Day Leave of Absence, Then Ends Life.

Four minutes after securing a leave of absence for thirty days, Policeman Herbert E. Hemphill shot himself to death at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the detective quarters at the police station.

The bullet pierced the brain. He died instantly. No note was left explaining the deed, but it is believed derangement from despondency over the loss of his wife and mother was the cause. No one witnessed the deed.

Hemphill was 41 years old. He had been on the force for only a few years. His residence was at 150 Spring street, in a private boarding house at which he had lived since the death of his wife. He is survived by two children, both girls. They are living with relatives in Griffin.

Wanted Leave of Absence.

At 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, Hemphill, who works on the morning watch from midnight until 8 a. m., walked into Secretary Morris' office and asked for a thirty-day leave of absence. Mr. Morris asked why the "leave" was wanted.

"I'm going down to Griffin to visit my children," Hemphill said.

The leave was granted. Hemphill started to leave.

"Hadn't you better leave your pistol here?" the secretary said. "You might get into trouble with it. You're not a policeman, now, you know."

"No, I'll keep it—I might need it," Hemphill said, and walked out as the telephone prevented Morris from further conversation.

Enters Detective Offices.

The despondent officer walked up a flight of stairs to the detectives' quarters. He went to the door of a washroom near the chief's office. Two detectives were within, washing their hands. He did not enter.

Thrice he went to the washroom, but each time it was occupied. The fourth time he found it empty. Shortly after he had stepped in, a number of detectives lounging about on the third floor heard a muffled report. No attention was paid to the sound. It was thought to have been either a slammed door or exploded auto tire on the street.

Detective Chewning, shortly after the report was heard, stepped into the washroom to rinse his hands. He almost stumbled over the dying policeman's body, lying in a pool of blood, his pistol and scabbard lying beside his right hand.

Eighteen months ago, the dead officer's wife, who was Miss Sallie Chapman, died in the Grady hospital. Six weeks ago, his aged mother also died. Relatives of Hemphill's say that despondency over the two deaths had noticeably deranged him, and that they were not surprised to learn of his suicide.

The body was removed to the Greenberg & Bond undertaking establishment. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

SUM OF $70,000 RAISED FOR HOTEL IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Of the $100,000 to be raised locally for the erection of a $200,000 hotel by the Columbus, Ga., Hotel company the sum of $70,000 has been subscribed. Committees are now actively at work and it is believed that $30,000 additional stock subscriptions will be secured within the next few days.

DODGE COUNTY FARMERS TO MEET FEBRUARY 7-8

Eastman, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—A two days' farmers' meeting or extension agriculture school will be held under the auspices of the State College of Agriculture, Athens, Ga., in this city on February 7 and 8.

The members of the Farmers' union of Dodge county are working to make this meeting a success from every standpoint, and it is believed that much good will result.

JEKYL ISLAND SCENE OF PROBE

Chairman Pujo to Arrive Tomorrow to Take Testimony of William Rockefeller.

Brunswick, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Jekyl island will be visited Thursday by Representative Pujo, chairman of the money probe investigating committee, and Attorney Untermyer, together with secretaries, stenographers, newspaper men, provided, of course, the latter are given permission to go to the island, which is a private resort. No one is permitted to land without a permit or an invitation from some member of the club.

This committee is going to the island for the purpose of taking the testimony of William Rockefeller, who has been eagerly sought by the congressional investigators for the past several weeks, and who, during most of this time, has been on the Georgia island.

Mr. Rockefeller is now occupying his handsome new cottage on Jekyl, which has just been rebuilt and refurnished. Whether or not the committee will take the evidence at Mr. Rockefeller's home or at the clubhouse is not known, but it is more than likely that the committee will be invited into his home, and that arrangements will be made to convert one of the rooms into a courtroom for a day or two at least.

It is probable that the committee will make the trip to Jekyl over a special boat and will return to Brunswick immediately after the examination. Though the resort is a very exclusive one and is seldom visited by anyone except members and their families, it is thought the members of the investigating committee and others will be cared for while on the island.

According to information received in the city today, Mr. Rockefeller has greatly improved during the past few days, and is now in better health than he has been any time during the winter. He is enjoying the delightful weather on the island and will remain there for some time.

CONVICT IN STATES, INNOCENT IN CANADA

Winnipeg, Man., February 4.—C. A. Bonds, of Memphis, Tenn., president of a chain of night and day banks in Memphis, Kansas City, Little Rock and Oklahoma City awaiting sentence in Memphis for fraud and who fled to Canada while out on ball, was released by order of Justice MacDonald late today He was brought before the justice on habeas corpus proceedings after his arrest last Monday on instructions from Secretary of State Knox, at Washington.

The warrant had been issued by an extradition judge on the ground that Bonds had committed a fraud as a banker in Memphis, but Junge MacDonald, after listening to several hours' argument by opposing lawyers, ordered Bonds released on the ground that the information and warrant showed no crime against the laws of Canada.

Memphis, Tenn., February 4.—United States District Attorney Casey Todd stated tonight that the release of C. A. Bond, banker, convicted here of using the mails to defraud, on habeas corpus proceedings at Winnipeg today, will not disarrange the plans of the United States government to have Bonds returned to Memphis for sentence.

"While today's action of the Canadian court will give Bonds his liberty, temporarily," said Mr. Todd, "the procedure is purely preliminary and I am confident that ultimately efforts to extradite him will be successful."

CROWN PRINCE UNABLE TO STRAIGHTEN HIS LEG

General Dumbadz, who returned today from the place of Tsarskoe-Selo, visited the youthful prince and conversed with him. He says the lad is as full of spirits as ever and has grown considerably taller and more muscular since last spring.

$50,000,000 LOST BY STOCK EXCHANGE

Three Lean Years Have Cast Wall Street Into Depths of Gloom.

New York, February 4.—A decline of more than $50,000,000 in the aggregate market value of the seats on the New York stock exchange is one measure of the depths of Wall street's gloom. The latest sale of a seat was made for $48,000, which is precisely one-half of the high record reached in 1909. On the assumption that $48,000 represents the present marketable value of a seat, the total shrinkage, on paper, at least, of the 1,100 seats on the stock exchange is $52,800,000.

Last November a seat was sold for $69,000. On the same basis, the decline in about three months is $23,100,000. Neither during the panic of 1907 nor during the "rich man's panic" of 1903 did the price fall so low, $51,000 having been the low level at both these periods.

Dwindling business is the explanation of the decline in seat prices. The intrinsic value of a seat represents but a small portion of its price. The huge gray stone palace which is the home of the stock exchange and the land on which it stands are assessed at $5,300,000, which represents an equity for each member of less than $5,000. There is also a gratuity of $10,000 which is paid to the family of a member who dies.

Besides this the value of a seat consists merely in good will or the privilege of trading on the exchange and the facilities offered to traders. Wall street has had three lean years in the business of buying and selling stocks and bonds.

Business last year averaged less than 450,000 shares of stock a day, whereas in 1905 the average was 900,000.

WIFE OF AN ENGLISHMAN WOULD REMAIN AMERICAN

San Francisco, February 4.—Ethel MacKenzie, wife of "MacKenzie Gordon," concert soloist and San Francisco club man, and who is a British subject, has begun proceedings in the state supreme court to test the interpretation of the federal law that a woman who marries an alien loses her citizenship through being compelled to take the political status of her husband.

Mrs. MacKenzie, who was one of the leaders in the suffrage campaign which resulted in the enfranchisement of California women, recently was refused registration by a ruling of election commissioners. In her petition Mrs. MacKenzie asks for a writ of mandamus compelling the board to allow her to register.

The act of congress by which she was prevented from registering was passed in March, 1907. She contends that it does not apply to her, as she has not lived outside the United States.

"LOAN SHARKS" DEALT BLOW AT WASHINGTON

Washington, February 4.—"Loan sharks" in the capital credited with doing an enormous business among government clerks received a blow today when President Taft signed the "loan shark" bill reducing their charges and also those of pawn brokers to 1 per cent a month. The passage of the bill had been fought for years in congress and the money lenders appealed personally to the president to veto it.

DOG-IN-MANGER POLICY IS RETARDING POLICY

Washington, February 4.—Alaska's great resources lie dead because of lack of railroads to connect the inland waterways with the coast, and because of inadequate coal land laws, Secretary Fisher today told the house territories committee.

"There's been a dog-in-the-manger policy in Alaska since 1906," he said.

Mr. Fisher asked for an aprpopriation to investigate the Alaskan railway possibilities.

LAST EJECTMENT SUIT NOW FILED

Mrs. Eleanor Howell Gunby Asks for $50,000 Damages.

The last of the ejectment suits in Mrs. Eleanor Howell Gunby's claim to more than $3,000,000 worth of central property was filed yesterday afternoon in superior court. It asks $50,000 damages, and the specific piece of property is 59 South Broad street, a brick storeroom on a lot 24x99 feet.

The suit is in the old, unique form of John Doe v. Richard Roe, "casual ejector," who summons the tenants of the store, A. Fugazzi and D. Psaroudakis, alias James Psaros, and the lessor, the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, Charles B. Alverson and Virgil M. Alverson, to defend the suit.

The attorneys for Mrs. Gunby are Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman and John K. McDonald, Jr.

The suit is returnable on the first Monday in March, 1913, when the superior court will be sitting.

Mrs. Gunby's claim to some of the most valuable central lots and business buildings in Atlanta created a sensation when the first suits were filed, some months ago. Mrs. Gunby claims that the property was entailed to her from her maternal grandfather, but that her mother's guardians sold the property during their guardianship, which, she alleges, they had no legal right to do. The property includes lots on South Broad street, East Alabama street and a large acreage off North Boulevard.

DEMOCRATS BLOCK TAFT NOMINATIONS

Washington, February 4.—After another ineffectual effort today to force action on President Taft's nominations pending in the senate, the republicans decided to make no further move for the present. It is probable they will caucus before beginning the fight again. Some republicans predicted that any action by caucus would be negative.

"It has been demonstrated that the democrats can block all confirmations," said Senator Gallinger discussing the situation, "and many of us consider it a pure waste of time to make further attempt at confirmation. We are liable to decide to do nothing more."

Today's executive session was brief. The democrats forced an adjournment by demanding a roll call to establish a quorum and then absenting themselves to insure a failure of a quorum.

It is now considered probable that the next move for an executive session will be made by the democrats and some believe it will result only in confirmation of the most of the army, navy, diplomatic, revenue cutter and public health service nominations.

FORGED COTTON BILLS IN NEW YORK COURT

New York, February 4.—The first of the forged bilsl of lading suits which followed the failure of Knight, Yancey & Co., the Decatur, Ala., cotton merchants, was put on trial today in the federal district court. Litigation involving about $4,500,000 awaits the result of this test case. This action was brought by A. Hannay & Co., cotton merchants of Liverpool, England, against the Guaranty Trust company, of New York.

It is based on a draft for $7,320 made by Knight, Yancev & Co., which was discounted by the defendant. The draft was accompanied by a bill of lading for 10 bales of cotton, which afterwards turned out to be a forgery. The Guaranty Trust company discounted this draft in February, 1910, and it was forwarded to England, where the Bank of England accepted it and charged the amount to the account of A. Hannay & Co.

The plaintiffs maintain that the draft on its face was drawn against the specific bales of cotton it described and that by discounting it the defendant warranted that the cotton had been actually shipped and that the bill of lading was genuine.

CAMPAIGN PROBE TO HIT FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Washingon, February 4.—Federal officers and employees who have been solicited to contribute to national campaign funds may be summoned as witnesses by the senate campaign contribution investigation committee when it opens its sessions. Subpoenaces will be issued for several United States marshals and other federal employees who have either collected or contributed to these funds, and an effort will be made to determine the extent to which "assessments" have been made on federal officeholders.

The campaign investigating committee will recommend several changes of law to the senate in the final report on its investigations. It is expected that legal restrictions will be urged upon solicitation of campaign funds from employees of the government. The committee has not yet arranged the date for the opening of the investigation into 1912 expenditures.

CHINESE LOAN BLOCKED BY ACTION OF FRANCE

Pekin, February 4.—The six-power loan agreement was not signed today. At the last moment the French minister informed the Chinese government that he would be unable to agree to the loan unless all three advisers represented neutral countries, or were all subjects of one or other of the six countries participating. He added that if the latter alternative was adopted a Frenchman ought to be appointed to one of the three posts.

The French objection was entirely unlooked for and caused consternation in government circles and dismay among the bankers.

The ministers representing the six powers met this evening, but failed to reconcile the conflicting views.

HE IS AFTER DRESSES THAT BUTTON UP BACK

Jefferson City, Mo., February 4.—Representative Hay, of Butler county, introduced in the legislature today a bill prohibiting women from wearing dresses that button up the back unless the buttons be as large as a dollar. The bill provides for a fine of $1 to $3, with a jail sentence for persistent offenders.

Pageant at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., February 4.—The annual pageant of Ye Mystic Krewe of Gasparilla, which organization made its annual invasion of Tampa today, was the most brilliant in its history. The Gasparillas came up the bay and river to the city in a schooner flying the black flag of piracy, the members of the crew picturesquely attired in costumes of 150 years ago, and "captured" the city. The keys of the city were turned over to the pirates by Mayor McKay and the parade through the city followed.

HER CHARGES CAUSE OF LUNACY PROBE

Wife Who Made Sensational Charges Against F. D. Arnold Will Be Tried for Lunacy.

Macon, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) Mrs. D. F. Arnold, who last month filed suit for divorce against her husband on the ground that he was guilty of misconduct with his cousins, Lillie Marshall, aged 22, and Helen Marshall, aged 17, will tomorrow be tried for her lunacy before Ordinary Wiley. Mrs. Arnold was arrested a few days after the filing of her divorce bill, the writ being taken out by relatives.

In a counter petition filed by D. F. Arnold, the husband, he denies the charge of adultery and says he does not hold her responsible, but attributes the charge to the diseased state of his wife's mind and to the influence of his son, M. M. Arnold, and his wife's father, J. L. Marshall, of Crawford county.

WILSON FOR CHANGES IN THE PRIMARY LAWS

Princeton, N. J., February 4.—President-elect Wilson today declared himself in favor of a radical change in the primary laws of New Jersey to be applied not only to the nominations for United States senator, but the governorship as well. A bill is being prepared, he said, modeled after the Wisconsin system, which was championed before its adoption by Senator La Follette. It would amend the present law to permit second choice voting. A majority would be required to nominate rather than a plurality.

The president-elect had another invitation today to visit the Panama canal before it is opened to navigation. Colonel W. C. Gorgas, a member of the isthmian canal commission and health officer of the zone, called on Mr. Wilson and urged him to see the canal.

"I certainly hope to get there this summer," said Mr. Wilson.

The governor's day at Trenton was devoted for the most part to state business.

WOMEN ON GRAND JURY; SECRETS TO BE KEPT

Redwood City, Cal., February 4.—In accepting the qualification of seventeen women for the San Mateo county grand jury venire, superior judge George Buck in effect yesterday placed at least six women on the grand jury. Only thirteen men were named and the membership of the grand jury is limited to nineteen. This will be the first instance in this state of women serving on a grand jury. Judge Buck accepted married women, most of whom appear as "housewives" on the voting register.

"I've always wanted to get a jury that would not gossip," said Judge Buck. "There never has been a grand jury in San Mateo county that could keep a secret and now we'll give the women a chance."

ANNISTON FIRM AWARDED CLARKE CO. COURTHOUSE

Athens, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) Contract was let this afternoon to Little & Cleckley, of Anniston, Ala., for the building of the new courthouse for Clarke county, to cost $155,000. This does not include the jail, which work will be let in a separate contract.

To Prohibit Polygamy.

Indianapolis, February 4.—An amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting polygamy is sought in a joint resolution introduced in the lower house of the Indiana legislature today.

SIGSBEE'S BATHTUB NOT WANTED BY ST. JOE

St. Joseph, Mo., February 4.—The city council today refused to appropriate money for bringing Admiral Sigsbee's bathtub, relic of the battleship Maine, from Urbana, Ohio, to St. Joseph. Several weeks ago the navy department announced that the bathtub, which had been rejected by Urbana, would be presented to the first city making application.

Mayor Pfeiffer asked that the tub be awarded to St. Joseph and was advised that St. Josepr should receive it. But when the mayor asked for funds to bring the tub here the council refused, on grounds that Pfeiffer's action already had brought the city into undesirable notoriety.

BOXERS ARRIVE FOR THURSDAY'S SHOW

Edited by DICK JEMISON

THURSDAY'S CARD NOW ARRANGED

Three Good Preliminaries Are on Auditorium List.

All Boxers Here---Kid Young in Semi-Windup---Four Slugging Bees.

Frankie Russell reached Atlanta yesterday morning. Frank Whitney blew in last night. All the preliminary scrappers are on the ground. All the arrangements for the boxing bouts at the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory Thursday night are completed.

Russell reached Atlanta shortly before noon. By 2:30 he was in the midst of a terrific boxing set-to. Sparring partners were strewn all around the floor, looking much the worse for the performance; while Russell was leaning back in his corner of the ring, fanning himself gently and looking hardly mussed up.

When the Italian boy turned up in Atlanta he seemed over small to be battling in the lightweight division. This opinion was swept away when he got into ring clothes. He is a man, every bone and muscle of him! His sparring partners were willing to testify before he was through with him that Frankie Russell can hit like a heavyweight.

Russell is a whirlwind scrapper. His aggressiveness and his punch will make him a great man to meet Frank Whitney.

It is a wise man who can nick the winner of the scrap. A bet of one-twenty-five on Russell against a hundred even on Whitney was recorded yesterday, but that hardly represents the normal odds.

This Whitney is a good scrapper. His boxing style is most puzzling. He is a master of the art of covering up and he hits a staggering blow with the shortest sort of a swing. A scrapper that can get back of Whitney's defense to do any damage must be the noblest boxer of them all or else possessed of such a punch that he can tear his way through guards and everything else to find a vulnerable spot.

Russell has staked everything on this Whitney engagement. He has a lot of battles scheduled, but of course they will be off if he loses to Whitney. Therefore he must get as good as a draw. But he will never get it if Whitney can arrange otherwise. The Fighting Carpenter has a lot to win by getting a decision or a knock-out in this scrap and he will force the battle all the way.

Tickets have been put on sale at Shepherd's Segar Shop, northwest corner of Pryor and Edgewood. The scale of prices is unchanged, but seats will be actually reserved and all will be certain of getting exactly what they buy. Three banked rows of seats have been arranged on the ring and the first six rows around the ring will be held at top price.

The card was filled out last night when Kid Young was finally matched with Young Cullen and Arthur Worthy was hooked up with Young Sam McVey. Kid Superior and Young Abe Attell is the other bout.

There is a strong suspicion that the victorious Young may get his measure taken Thursday night. This Young Cullen is a tough kid. He is in deadly earnest, has been taking excellent care of himself, seems to be right down to his best scrapping weight and needs the money. He will give Young all he has, which is reputed to be considerable. Cullen stopped Mayer Pries once in five rounds and is reputed to be considerably better now than he was then.

In Young Sam McVey the local promoters believe they have at last a man who can look out for Arthur Worthy. This Worthy has been beating everything sent against him for so long that local promoters believe it is high time he is licked. They will attempt to arrange it with this McVey chap. He is a tough lad with a tremendous kick.

DOUBLE-HEADER IN THE FULTON

A double-header will be played in the Fulton basketball league tonight and another one on Thursday night.

Here is the schedule:

February 5.

Company C v. Agogas.

Baracas v. Young Men's Christian association.

February 6.

Company H v. Baracas.

Company C v. Young Men's Christian association.

HUNTERS BUYING GUNS.

A Large Number Taking Advantage of Low Prices to Provide Themselves for This and Next Season.

Owing to the state game law, birds have been more plentiful this season than in several years previous. A large number of hunters have discovered this fact and enjoyed many a good day's sport.

Those who have taken advantage of the low prices at which high-grade shotguns and rifles are being sold at the Anderson Hardware Company Bankrupt Sale are congratulating themselves on the bargains they have secured and on the fact that they have settled the gun question for seasons to come. These hunters state that never in their lives have they seen high grade guns sold at such low figures. All of these guns are priced at cost and many considerably below cost.

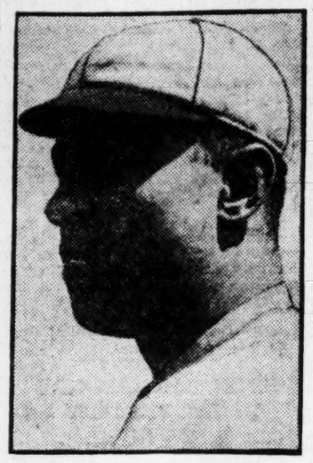
Every one familiar with sporting goods stocks in Atlanta knows that the Anderson stock was absolutely complete, first-class and up-to-date in every respect. Probably never again in a lifetime will such a stock be placed on the market at or below cost, and crowds of people have taken advantage of this sale.

The management report that there is still on sale a large number of shotguns and rifles and that it is not too late to secure one for yourself. Their stock of hunting clothes is still complete and prices are very low. A great many hunters are buying their suits now and putting them away for next year.

A Cracker a Day for Fans

2--"Wallie" Smith

Editor's Note—This is the second of a series of articles that will be presented to Atlanta fans in The Constitution, introducing the twenty-seven candidates for berths on the 1913 team.



WALLACE H. SMITH.

Wallace H. Smith, or Smithers, whichever you care to call him, the former being the name he is most generally known by, is the new Cracker third baseman and the only candidate for the far side of the diamond.

"Wallie," as he has been dubbed by the baseball fraternity, is 23 years of age, and first saw the light of day in Philadelphia, March 13, 1889.

Smith will probably be one of the largest infielders in the Southern league this season. He is 5 feet 11½ inches tall and weighs 180 pounds.

Smith bats and throws right-handed and has been in professional ball four years. He played in Calgary in 1909, with the same team, and Vancouver in 1910 and with the latter in 1911.

He joined the St. Louis Cardinals in 1912 and played shortstop and third base for them last season. Mike Mowery's efficiency at the far corner is all that enables the Crackers to secure him, and then only under optional agreement.

Smith is a married man. He joined the benedicts last fall, marrying a St. Louis belle, the two keeping it a secret for months.

With St. Louis last season Smith batted .256, good average batting for an infielder. As a shortstop he fielded .958 and as a third baseman he fielded .949.

Many of Bill Smith's personal friends in the big leagues have touted Smith as the man who will set this league on fire the coming season.

Smith hit the same in the majors as Jud Daley, the popular left fielder of the Volunteers. If Smith duplicates Daley's stunt of coming to this league and hitting .376, Bill Smith's smile would reach from ear to ear.

ATLANTA LEAGUE MEETS TONIGHT

To Discuss the Protest Filed Against Player Pie Weaver.

The directors of the Atlanta basketball league will meet at F. J. Cooledge & Sons' store tonight at 6 o'clock for the purpose of discussing a protest filed by several of the members of several of the teams against the Atlanta Athletic club playing Pie Weaver at guard.

The contention of the protestants is that Weaver has played as a regular in all of the games of the Atlanta Athletic club's first team with out-of-town teams and, according to league rules, is not eligible to play in the league games.

No protest is made on the games won by the club quintet to date, but the protestants desire to have Weaver barred from playing in any more games during the remainder of the league season, which ends this month.

NAP RUCKER HERE; LOOKS SPLENDID

Nap Rucker, Brooklyn's great southpaw, looking fit for a hard campaign, was a visitor in Atlanta Tuesday. Nap is ready for the season to open. He has been spending the winter hunting.

COLUMBIA MAY KEEP FRANCHISE

Popular Subscription Started to Keep Sally League Berth.

Columbia, S. C., February 4.—A movement was inaugurated this morning to keep Columbia in the South Atlantic league by floating a popular subscription list. A mass meeting of fans was held last night and a committee of six citizens was appointed by the temporary chairman to make an investigation into the financial requirements.

F. S. Terry and Sam B. Brown will go to Savannah today to confer with N. P. Corish, president of the league. The franchise has passed from the board of three to the citizens' committee of six, which will endeavor to begin the season on a strong financial basis.

OXONIAN SWING FOR YALE CREWS

New Haven, Conn., February 4.—Reports that an English coach and an English boat rigger were to be engaged at Yale this year was set at rest today by Captain C. N. Snowden and Coaches James O. Rodgers and W. M. A. Harriman, of the Yale rowing camp, who have just returned from a visit to Oxford university in England.

All three declared that Oxford rowing methods would be tried at Yale the coming year, particularly the "Oxonian swing" will be developed, and they declared other valuable points had been gleaned from their close range study of the Oxford crew at work.

DOUBLE-HEADER PLAYED IN JUNIOR CITY LEAGUE

A double-header was played in the Junior city basketball league Monday night at the Wesley Memorial court. S. V. D. won its fifth straight game. I. C. won for the first time this season. S. V. D. now leads the standing, with W. H. A. C. second, Wesley Memorial third and Immaculate Conception fourth.

The Immaculate Conception team played a good game throughout, but did not obtain a lead until just before the end of the game, a couple of long goals pulling them out of danger. Bicknell and Huckby starred for Immaculate Conception.

The game between S. V. D. and Wesley House Athletic association was a very hard-fought one. A record for a low score was set for one-half, but six points being scored by both teams in the first half, S. V. D. getting two field goals and Immaculate Conception one in that period. A couple fine shots by Blodgett and one from Callahan in the second half completed S. V. D.'s scoring. Wesley House Athletic association shot two field goals in the second half and one foul goal.

The S. V. D. team was outplayed on the floor, but Wesley House Athletic association lost on account of many short shots being missed.

FOOTBALL RULES MAKERS TO MEET

Intercollegiate Committee Convenes in New York on Friday.

New York, February 4.—(Special.)—The intercollegiate football rules committee for 1913 will meet at the Martinique hotel, this city, at 8 o'clock on Friday evening. The rules committee consists of two separate committees, which sit jointly. The original committee, which evolved out of the old Intercollegiate Football association, and which has never surrendered its identity, consists of J. W. Beacham, Cornell; Percy D. Haughton, Harvard; A. A. Stagg, Chicago; Carl Williams, Pennsylvania; Parke H. Davis, Princeton; Professor Paul J. Dashiell, Navy, and Walter Camp, Yale.

The new committee representing the National Collegiate Athletic association is composed of E. K. Hall, Dartmouth; Professor W. L. Dudley, Vanderbilt; Lieutenant V. W. Cooper, Army; Professor S. C. Williams, Iowa; Dr. H. L. Williams, Minnesota, and Professor C. W. Savage, Oberlin.

All of the above are graduates of the institutions represented, with the exception of A. A. Stagg, J. A. Babbitt and H. L. Williams, who are graduates of Yale, and Professor Paul J. Dashiell, who is an alumnus of Johns Hopkins and Lehigh. If Dr. A. H. Sharpe, Cornell's coach, takes the place of Captain J. W. Beacham, as rumored, Yale will thus have a fifth alumnus upon the committee.

FOOTBALL STAR ENTERS TECH

Lovick Stephenson, of Birmingham High, Considered a Regular.

Birmingham, Ala., February 4.—(Special.)—Georgia Tech draws a splendid piece of football material from the Birmingham high school in Lovick Stephenson, who left Tuesday for Atlanta, where he will enter the Tech. By entering at this time he will be eligible to play with Tech next season, and there is no doubt in the minds of those who have seen him play that he will make the Tech varsity from the jump.

Stephenson was the most consistent ground gainer among the Alabama prep football squads during the two years he has played on the high school eleven. He played right half and displayed great ability in not only smashing the line, but in broken-field running. His smashing ability is of the kind that "opens 'em up," and he apparently would like to hit a brick wall. At the quarter back position he has also done excellent work, and Coach Carter, of Marion, gave him the position of quarterback on his all-Alabama prep eleven. He is also a splendid baseball player, having caught for the B. H. S. team.

Coach Courleux, of the high school, has been a great teacher for Stephenson and predicts a great future for him. The youngster is popular at the B. H. S. and the students are giving him a regretful farewell. He will take up a course of electrical engineering.

CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DECIDED TODAY

New York, February 4.—The contest between Jose R. Capablanca and Frank J. Marshall tomorrow in the thirteenth and final round of the National Chess Masters' tournament will decide the winner of first place. Capablanca, with a score of 10½ games won, had a half-game lead over the United States champion at the conclusion of the twelfth round today, in which the Cuban titleholder drew with Chajes and Marshall defeated Rubenstein.

Jaffe retained third place, with a chance of a tie for second position, defeating Kupchik. Whitaker and Liebenstein were winners over Tenenwurzel and Kline, respectively. The contests between Chapfer and Zapolson, and Janowski and Morrison were adjourned.

The pairing for the final round tomorrow are:

Tenenwurzel v. Janowski, Rubinstein v. Whitaker, Capablanca v. Marshall, Kupchik v. Chajes, Zapoleon v. Jaffe, Liebenstein v. Stapfer and Morrison v. Kline.

C. C. VAUGHN MAY HEAD THE NEW EMPIRE LEAGUE

Brunswick, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—C. C. Vaughn, of this city, who did much toward organizing the Empire State league, may be elected president of the organization to succeed James Sinclair, of Waycross, who, because of business reasons, has resigned. Mr. Vaughn is an enthusiastic fan, a hard worker, and, if elected, and he agrees to accept the place, he will make the new circuit a very efficient and hard-working president.

Georgia v. Tennessee.

Athens, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) The University of Georgia and the University of Tennessee basketball teams meet here Friday night.

MARIST PUT OUT BY BOYS' HIGH

Tech High School Stands Best Chance of Winning Prep Pennant Now.

Standing

CLUBS—	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Tech High	6	0	1.000
Marist	4	2	.667
Peacock	3	3	.500
Boys' High	3	4	.428
G. M. A.	2	5	.285
Donald Fraser	1	5	.167

Yesterday's Results.

Boys' High, 34, Marist 27.
Donald Fraser 24, G. M. A. 21.
Tech High 24, Peacock 7.

By Hal Reynolds.

In a fast and fiercely contested game, the Boys' High five won out over Marist yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. court by the close score of 34 to 27.

Taking into consideration the fastness of the game, the small number of fouls was remarkable. There were only a few made, and the single point made from these went to Marist, Lowry making it.

Both of the teams had good teamwork, but they were also off at times in their shooting, each missing several shots that should have been turned into points.

The High school five led throughout the entire fray, Smith shooting a basket during the first few seconds of the game, and Marist never succeeded in catching them, although they were within one point of them at one time in the second half.

In the first half, the High school got away to a good start, by shooting six baskets to Marist's two. This lead was maintained until almost the close of the half, when Marist got busy, ringing several baskets in a row. The greatest distance between the teams was in this half, when nine points separated them at one time. This half ended with Boys' High 22 to 19 for Marist.

At the beginning of the second half Marist came up within one point of her opponents, and for several minutes the spectators were held in suspense, until Boys' High broke it by making a goal. Marist suffered by attempting several long shots for goals in this half, but none of them resulted in points.

The entire high school five played star ball, their passing being much better than in former games. Fox, Scott and Smith did some good work at shooting baskets and also guarding.

For Marist, Lowry played the best game. He shot 13 of his team's points, and also guarded well. Hurbert put up a strong game at guard, many times breaking up the teamwork of the opposing team by his good work.

This game practically put Marist out of the running for the pennant, their only chance now is for them to trim Tech High, and Boys' High also to down Tech High, which would cause a tie between Tech High and Marist. The line-up follows:

BOYS' HIGH.	Position.	MARIST.
Fox (Capt.) (10)	L. F.	(6) Allen
Scott (12)	R. F.	(13) Lowry
Smith (10)	C.	(4) Kennedy
Floyd	L. G.	Hubert
Starr (2)	R. G.	(4) Cheves (Capt.)

Referee, Graves. Goals from fouls, Lowry 1. Time of halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

Donald Fraser Springs Surprise.

Donald Fraser sprang a surprise in prep circles by downing G. M. A. in a closely contested game by the score of 24 to 21.

The game was fiercely fought from start to finish, neither team holding a very large lead over the other at any stage of the struggle.

The Donald Fraser bunch deserve especial mention for their victory. Although losing the first five games, they stuck to it and finally succeeded in defeating G. M. A.

The stars for Donald Fraser were Phillips, Jernigan and Bodenhamer. Philip's scored exactly half of his team's points, shooting 12 points. Bodenhamer played a good game.

For G. M. A., Rodriguez and Babb played the best game. Rodriguez scored 13 points. Babb played a strong game at forward.

The line-ups follow:

Donald Fraser.	Position.	G. M. A.
Phillips (12)	L. F.	(13) Rodriguez
Burgess (4)	R. F.	(2) Parker, Babb
Jernigan (6)	C.	(2) Walker (4) Cornell
Bodenhamer	L. G.	Van Dyke
Thompson (2)	R. G.	Coburn

Referee, Griffin. Time of halves, 15 minutes. Timekeeper, Rosser.

Tech High Wins Again.

Tech High had little trouble in downing Peacock yesterday afternoon at Peacocks, defeating them 24 to 7. Tech High was strengthened by the presence of Cintz, at forward, who has been out with injuries for several days.

For Tech High Bedell and Cintz played the best game. Bedell being especially strong at guard. For Peacock, Sams and Oliver put up the star game. The line-ups follow:

TECH HIGH.	Position.	PEACOCK.
Cinty	L. F.	Sams
Myers	R. F.	Knox, Lenney
Whittaker	C.	Oliver
Bedell	L. G.	Jones
Laird (Capt.)	R. G.	Hopkins, Wells

LAGRANGE PRESIDENT ATLANTA VISITOR

Mr. Hines called at local baseball headquarters to try to secure some players for his team. Manager Smith promised to help him.

Tinker Fails to Move Kling.

Cincinnati, February 4.—In a letter to President August Herrmann, of the Cincinnati National league baseball club, received today, Manager Joe Tinker announced he had abandoned efforts to obtain the services of Johnny Kling for the Cincinnati team. He also said he was convinced Kling would not play professional ball this season.

ATLANTA GETS $600 FROM NEW YORK TEAM

Claim of Highlanders for Release of Player Coleman Is Denied.

New York, February 4—The New York American team in a decision by the national commission made public here today, is directed to pay the Atlanta club, of the Southern league, $600, which that club claimed to be due it for the return of two of five players procured from New York last season. The New York club entered a counter claim of $1,500 for the release of Player Coleman to Atlanta, but this is disallowed, as Coleman failed to report to the Georgia club.

BIRMINGHAM FIVE ON HARD JAUNT

Play Columbus and Atlanta Fives on Friday and Saturday Nights.

Birmingham, Ala., February 4.—(Special.)—The Birmingham Athletic club basketball team has a hard trip ahead this week, one that will try the local basketballers to the very utmost.

On Friday night they play the Columbus Young Men's Christian association team at Columbus, and on Saturday night they meet the Atlanta Athletic club at Atlanta.

The local contingent realize that both games will be hard ones, but the steady improvement that the team has shown of late begets confidence for the entire crew.

Practice is being held on a shorter court nightly to accustom the players to playing on a smaller floor in the two cities.

The smaller court mentioned applies to Columbus, but the writer of the article above evidently has never seen the local court. The Atlanta basketball floor is just as wide as the one at Birmingham and several feet longer.

CLEMSON AND TECH IN TWO BATTLES

The Clemson and Tech basketball teams play two games this week, one in Atlanta on Friday night, and the other in Clemson on Saturday night.

T. H. S. v. P. F. S.

Tech High was the victor in a slow game Tuesday with Peacock's, the score being 26 to 7. Tech High played a good game at passing, while Peacock roughed it up a little in trying to intercept. Myers and Cintz starred for Tech High, and Oliver showed up in his usual form for Peacock. The points scored were as follows:

T. H. S. (26)	Position.	P. F. S. (7)
Myers (4)	R. F.	Sams
Cintz (8)	L. F.	Knox
Whitaker (6)	C.	(5) Oliver
Bedell (6)	R. G.	Jones
Laird (2)	L. G.	(2) Hopkins

HE USED BOMBS TO DESTROY FOES

Mystery of New York's Infernal Machines Solved.

John Farrell Confesses He Made and Sent Bombs That Have Killed Several Persons.

New York, February 4.—John Paul Farrell, a discharged apartment house janitor, confessed today that he had killed Mrs. Bernard Herrera Sunday night by means of a bomb he had made, and that by similar means he had caused the death of Mrs. Helen Taylor a year ago and attempted the life of Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, of the court of general sessions, last March. Farrell was held tonight on a charge of murder for the killing of Mrs. Herrera.

Although the police are convinced the man is mentally unbalanced, Deputy Commissioner Dougherty tonight said detectives he had sent out in numbers to investigate the case have learned enough to lead them to believe Farrell's startling story is true in the essentials, though false in many details.

Used Bombs to Settle Grievances.

Every time Farrell had a grievance he seems to have settled the business with a bomb. The trouble with Mrs. Herrera, he said, was that she "fired" him from his job as janitor and hired a negro in his place. He wanted to get Judge Rosalsky out of the way because the jurist had sentenced Joseph Harvey, a "pal," to serve thirty-nine years in Sing Sing for stealing $16 worth of jewelry. Farrell told the police he helped Harvey rob Peter Johnson's home in the Bronx in 1908, but easily escaped.

Why Farrell wanted to kill the Taylor woman—sometimes known as Grace Walker—was more than the police could fathom. In his early story, Farrell said she was his daughter and he slew her because she had gone wrong. Later he recanted this, and said she was an intimate friend, but gave no reason for killing her. He also told Dougherty why and by whom "Kid" Walker was shot down and slain in 1887 on the Bowery. He said Walker betrayed the Taylor woman, and a woman named LeStrange killed him in revenge.

Confessed to Robberies.

Having disposed of the bomb mysteries, Farrell confessed, the police assert, to having perpetrated a series of robberies in Brooklyn and the robbery of the Johnson home. Harvey and Harry Hartman, his companions in the latter exploit, were sentenced to Sing Sing for 39 years and nine years, respectively. Farrell had never been suspected of complicity in the crime.

Besides this, Mr. Dougherty said Farrell served ten years in the New Jersey penitentiary at Trenton for burglary and other crimes. As John McDermott, alias "Liverpool Jack," Farrell's picture is in the rogue's gallery in Jersey City, according to information brought to Dougherty.

Farrell's desire to confess to so many crimes led Mr. Dougherty to doubt his sanity. He immediately set about verifying the story. While detectives were busy at this, the janitor kept two stenographers busy taking down fresh details of his protracted story.

After an all-night grilling, and more of it during the forenoon, Farrell was tractable and answered without hesitation every question put to him. He said he was born in Ireland 53 years ago and had served as an orderly in the army in the Spanish-American war. He was asked if he had served in the navy, and promptly displayed "U. S. N." tattooed on his right arm.

Once In Lunatic Asylum.

He also told the police he had been confined for a short time in an insane asylum at Danville, Pa.

The bomb Farrell placed opposite Herrera's door he made in his room, he said, according to the same formula used in manufacturing the Rosalsky and Taylor infernal machines. The materials consisted of iron pipe, springs, paper, two boxes, a steel button and a percussion cap. The explosive in each case was nitro-glycerine. He gave the police a specimen of his handiwork by constructing a dummy bomb and demonstrating it as he told of his crimes.

The Taylor and Rosalsky bombs were made in the cellar of a house in East Fourteenth street, Farrell said, where he was employed as an elevator operator.

The superintendent of the building recalled this afternoon that Farrell used to lock himself in a cellar at times and became enraged if disturbed. On the premises was found a short length of pipe, fashioned at each end just as Farrell said he made them.

A connection between the Taylor and Rosalsky cases was suspected partly through the fact that the addresses on the two packages were made apparently by the same typewriter. Commissioner Dougherty said tonight that Farrell, in his confession, told of buying a second-hand typewriter.

Farrell will be arraigned before a coroner tomorrow charged with homicide.

ROUTED BURGLARS

HALL ROBERTS.

The 16-year-old schoolboy, who, unassisted, drove two negro burglars from the residence of J. H. Clarke, 194 Whitehall street, Monday night, when he discovered them entering a front room of the home. One of the robbers was armed with a knife, and the other with a black-jack. So vigorously did the youngster assail the blacks with a chair that his clumsy weapon was splintered, and the burglars were badly beaten. They escaped. Hall was unhurt.

GEORGIAN HALED TO N. Y. COURT

W. O. M'Henry of Rome, Ga., Must Answer Regarding His Sister's Property.

New York, February 4.—(Special.)—An order signed by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum today was mailed to William S. McHenry, of Rome, Ga., directing him to appear in the supreme court on March 5 and show cause why he should not be removed as committee of the person of his insane sister, Mrs. Marion Bozeman.

He is also directed to show cause why he should not account for all the moneys of the estate.

Mrs. Bozeman is the divorced wife of Dr. Nathan Bozeman, of Freeport, Ill.

It is alleged that McHenry has had his sister confined in a public insane asylum in Georgia as a "pauper patient," while in reality there are sufficient funds of her estate to amply provide for her. It is also claimed that McHenry has used funds of the estate for his own self.

The directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association Tuesday afternoon informally discussed the plans for grand opera week.

EVINS WILL AID IN GRAFT PROBE

fund of $175,000 has been exhausted, and then some. Mayor Woodward is determined to sign checks and vouchers, law or no law, and City Comptroller Goldsmith says he will countersign any check or voucher properly passed up to him by the mayor.

Woodward Gives Challenge.

Mayor Woodward paid his daily respects to members of council Tuesday. He said that the Nutting resolution asking for an opinion from City Attorney Mayson as to the legality of passing up money for appropriation prior to the adoption of the sheet was a shot at him.

He said that council will not dare submit the crematory contract to the people, as required by law that it should do.

"I'll go out and undertake to raise a subscription fund to pay the expenses of the election," he said. "I'll guarantee that the city won't be put to one dollar's expense.

Alderman John S. Candler, who denounced the message of the mayor in council Monday afternoon, admitted that the New York Destructor Company asked his brother, Asa Candler, to finance the crematory contract.

Offered $36,000 for Underwriting.

Mayor Woodward said that the corporation offered $36,000 for the underwriting of the contract.

Alderman Candler said that he advised his brother not to finance the proposition, not because he did not believe it to be a perfectly good and legitimate business proposition, but because he though it would be improper, inasmuch as he was an alderman.

"It was the impropriety of the thing that prompted me," Alderman Candler said.

Discussing the merits of the crematory proposed for Atlanta, Sales Manages Dowd had the following to say Tuesday:

Manager Dowd's Defense.

"The contract for the crematory at Milwaukee was $176,000. This price covered only the furnaces. Milwaukee purchased a chimney for $5,000 and a building for $20,000. The total cost of the Milwaukee plant, therefore, was $210,000. This plant has a burning capacity of 300 tons per day.

"Milwaukee collects its garbage in separate cans and wagons from its rubbish and ashes. The crematory in that city burns the garbage for the entire population and the rubbish and ashes of only the wards adjacent to the plant. The mixture fired on the grates is, therefore, much higher in moisture and lower in heating value than that of Atlanta. For this reason the Milwaukee plant only generates 600 kilowats of electricity. The plant has been operated for approximately four years, and during that time it is reported that the labor cost has been about 90 cents per ton.

What Atlanta Plant Will Do.

"The Atlanta plant will burn 250 tons per day and will cost $276,000. In proportion to this capacity, the Atlanta plant, therefore, costs approximately $100,000 more than the crematory at Milwaukee. The plant in Atlanta is guaranteed to operate at a labor cost not exceeding 25 cents per ton, and this cost is guaranteed for a period of five years. Considering the plant to burn 250 tons per day for a 310-day year, the difference in labor cost bewteen 25 cents a ton for Atlanta and 90 cents a ton for Milwaukee, is approximately $50,000 a year. This annual saving, which is possible, due to the advancement in design and construction of crematories. The builders of the plant in Atlanta could offer a design of furnace similar to that in operation at Milwaukee for a pro rata price of that received at Milwaukee, but when the saving due to modern design is appreciated it would not have been wise for the city of Atlanta to install such a plant.

When the new crematory is built Atlanta will continue to collect the garbage, rubbish and ashes from one can into one wagon. This will not only be a continued convenience to the householders, but will permit of the highly combustible rubbish and the half-burned ashes being destroyed on the crematory grates. For this reason a greater amount of power will be developed per ton on the refuse burned in Atlanta than has been obtained in Milwaukee, and the power plant to be installed in connection with the crematory here will develop 1,500 kilomats, instead of 600. It has been stated that the power plant at Milwaukee cost $40,000, against $100,000 to be charged the city of Atlanta. When the capacity of these two plants is considered the comparative cost is entirely consistent.

Only Four Like Atlanta.

Although numerous plants similar to that of Milwaukee are in operation in this country, only four have been built having the mechanical operating devices similar to the Atlanta plant. The plant at Clifton, N. Y., has 90 tons capacity and cost $130,000, which is about $1,450 per day ton; the plant in Paterson, N. J., has 60 tons capacity and cost $80,000, which is over $1,300 per day ton; the two plants for San Francisco, which have 120 tons capacity each and cost $300,000, which is about $1,250 per day ton. The plant at Atlanta will cost $1,100 per day ton, which is therefore cheaper than any of the other plants similar in design which have been built by the same company.

SHRINERS' CONVENTION WANTED HERE IN 1914

Atlanta Shriners have started a movement to bring to Atlanta in 1914 the annual convention of the imperial council of Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. The 1913 gathering will take place in Dallas, Texas, next May, and the Atlanta Shriners are planning to attend in a body and put up a strong bid for the next convention. In a letter written by Forrest Adair, illustrious potentate of Yaarab temple, to H. N. Dutton, former president of the organization, the matter has been formally proposed. Mr. Adair says he is certain that Atlanta can win the convention if she puts in a strong bid for it.

Claud Williams Signs.

New York, February 4.—The Brooklyn club of the National league today received the signed contract of Claude P. Williams, a recruit pitcher, who was secured by purchase from Nashville.

ASK $15,000 FUND FOR CUBAN CHURCH

Laymen's Forward Movement Makes Plan for Atlanta Campaign.

The steering committee of the laymen's forward movement decided yesterday to recommend to the pastors and members of the Atlanta Methodist district that they raise a special offering of $15,000 for Cuba.

This money is to go toward the erection of a Methodist church in Havana, of which the greatest need is felt. This church is to cost $40,000, and will be built in part by money subscribed by the Methodists of Havana.

The offering from the Atlanta churches will be entirely a special contribution and will be made only after regular assessments have been paid. Throughout the campaign, which the Methodist churches will begin on February 7, on behalf of Cuba, and will continue during fifteen or twenty days, only voluntary contributions will be asked.

The committee also decided to call a meeting for Friday afternoon of the lay speakers who will occupy the pulpits of the various Methodist churches, following the morning sermons, on Sunday, February 9 and 16. This meeting will be held at 5 o'clock at Wesley Memorial church. The purpose of it will be to bring the speakers and the steering committee into a conference at which plans for the campaign and subjects which the laymen will treat will be decided.

Following this meeting, the lay leaders and the preachers will go to the Cafe Durand, where a dinner will be given by James L. Mayson and J. M. Skinner.

INAUGURAL FUND NOW NEEDS $1,500

Seven Committees Are Canvassing the City for Small Subscriptions.

A whirlwind canvass to raise the final $1,500 was begun Monday afternoon by seven committees, composed of one civilian and one militiaman, who will solicit small subscriptions. It is the hope of the committees to close the campaign by the end of this week, the sagpaign to the end of the week and have the complete sum needed for the naugural trp on hand.

When the committee in charge of the canvassing met in chamber of commerce hall yesterday at noon, the total of subscriptions raised showed that $1,500 is all that is now needed for the trip. This includes the $2,000 each for which the city and county have been asked, as it was the belief of all that the city and county would provide these appropriations. The county board meets Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time the matter of the requested appropriation is expected to come up. The question of the city's appropriation will probably be taken up by council next Monday afternoon.

In addition to the money which it is expected will be brought in by the committees, several of the companies of the Fifth have decided to hold various social entertainments to raise additional funds.

The Grady Cadets and the Gate City Guard will give a bazar at the armory of the Gate City Guard, on Houston street, commencing on the evening of the 14th, and running [illegible] days. Refreshments will be s[illegible]d there will be dancing every night during the fair. Among the features to be carried out will be a colonial ball, a fancy costume ball and fancy military drill.

Here is a list of small subscriptions which the committees have received during the last several days:

James S. Lawrence, $10; George P. Moore, $10; Jacobs' Pharmacy, $10; Quintin Brothers company, $10; Tumlin Brothers company, $10; Charles T. Hopkins, $25; A. H. Stephens, $10; J. R. Smith and J. H. COUNCIL REMITS FINES OF GEORGIA STUDENTS

Athens, Ga., February 4.—(Special.) This morning at a called meeting of the city council the fines of $50 each placed recently upon eleven students of the University of Georgia, mostly freshmen, for disorderly conduct at two local theaters, which resulted in a near-panic and endangered lives of a number of ladies, the city fathers allowed the fines remitted.

This action was after a mass meeting of the two lower classes had passed resolutions deploring the action of the students on the night in question and pledging good behavior in future and support of law and order in the city. This resolution is posted on the campus, and on this understanding the fines are remitted by the mayor. Cordial relations and thorough understanding is now resumed between the city government and police and the students of the university.

COLD AROUND LAKES, BALMY IN ATLANTA

With a cold wave in the great lakes region and the coldest temperature of the northwest registered at 22 degrees below zero at Duluth, Minn., Atlanta's territory is experiencing almost balmy weather. The mercury dropped to 32 degrees early yesterday morning, and at 7 o'clock today is expected to strike that mark again, but by noon the sunshine will be felt, as on Tuesday, and the pleasant weather of an early autumn day will be here.

The same clear and cool weather is due to last here several days, and, in the opinion of the weather man, will be an aid in checking vegetation somewhat and making it less liable to blossom forth only to be injured by frosty days on March or April.

IS SLOT MACHINE GAMING DEVICE?

the little vendor's business into a high success and fixes the hand of the player on the crank of the machine until his last nickel disappears into the slot."

It Is a Gaming Device.

The city attorneys contend that any place where people come together to play for money or any other thing of value, at any game or devise for hazarding money or a thing of value, is a gaming place and the parties operating same are guilty of a misdemeanor.

It is contended by the assistant city attorney that the various sections of the state law deal with rening or letting a house for gaming purposes, with gambling tables on the premises, and also prohibits playing games of chance. Various other sections of the law are cited to show the subject of gaming and gaming devices, and the practice and use is made penal.

The city holds that the ordinance deals with a phase of the gaming laws not covered by the statute. The ordinance makes it unlawful to conduct any business in the city of Atlanta by means of any wheel or similar device in which the elements of chance are used for the purpose of attracting trade.

The ordinance does not conflict with the state law, according to the city attorney, because it does not seek to punish for the prohibited offense, but seeks to prevent the conduct of such business.

The court of appeals' decision will have important bearing on slot machines in Atlanta, for it will have the effect of banishing them altogether, or legalizing their operation.

CYCLONE HITS TIFT COUNTY

Two Churches Wrecked and Several Homes Damaged at Enigma.

Tifton, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—A small cyclone, traveling in a northeasterly direction, passed near the southern and eastern line of Tift county Monday afternoon. It was accompanied by a downpour of rain, and quite a lot of damage was done to fencing, telegraph and telephone lines and to land which had been prepared for planting.

The heaviest damage is reported from Enigma, twelve miles east of Tifton, on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad. Here the Methodist church was completely destroyed, the steeple of the Baptist church blown down and the building badly wrecked. A barn belonging to J. B. Gunn was unroofed and several outhouses blown down. Lumber from the wrecked buildings was strewn all over the town.

The cyclone dipped down here, but rose almost immediately, and no further serious damages and no personal injuries are reported. One or two barns in the country were unroofed, and much timber was blown down.

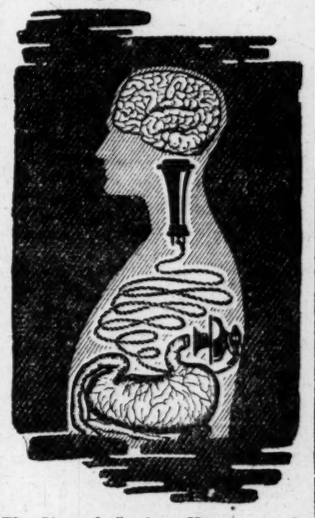
GEESE FLYING NORTH; FROGS CROAK IN PONDS

Newport News, Va., February 4.—Wild geese flying northward, frogs croaking in ponds, fruit trees in blossom and green fields lead the oldest lay weather prophets in southern Virginia to predict that winter really is over despite the present cold snap over the Atlantic states.

Don't Say You Can't Eat

You'll Never Have Stomach Trouble After You Read This, and Act on It. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Open Secret.

Thousands of people who hadn't really enjoyed a meal for years have given their stomach a new lease of life through the wonder-workers, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They promptly put and end to flatulency, heartburn, dizziness, sick headache, dyspepsia, burning sensation, brash, fermentation and the other ills attendant upon a disordered stomach.



The Stomach Sends a Message to the Brain the Instant There Is Trouble.

In this day and age of known facts, there is absolutely no excuse for anyone to suffer with stomach trouble, indigestion, sour risings, catarrh of the stomach, gas formations, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are composed of known and approved digestants that help out the gastric juices of the stomach. They are Nature's digestives, the same kind the stomach uses when it is in good health.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not merely aid digestion—they actually digest the food themselves. All the hard work is thus taken off the stomach and it gets a chance to rest and recuperate. The undigested food which formerly produced nauseating gases in the stomach becomes thoroughly digested and as a result provides new brain and brawn and nerve cells to replace natural waste always going on.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are quickly, safely and naturally, just like Nature herself. They are a familiar and standard part of the stock of every properly equipped drug store and are sold at 50c a box.

Those who once try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are never at a loss to know how to overcome any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

"KILL OUT HATE AND BURY FEAR"

Speaking in a lecture hall at the Carnegie library crowded with interested hearers, Dr. L. A. Fealey delivered an address last night on "The Value of Life," in which he outlined and discussed the philosophy of the Altrurian society.

"Kill out hate and bury fear, and live a life of perfect naturalness," he advised his hearers, saying that in this way they might live in a blissful heaven on earth.

Dr. Fealy, who is a native Georgian, his home being at Madison, Ga., founded the Altrurian society twelve years ago and is its present head. The society has a strong membership in Georgia and has organizations in practically every state of the union. At the rooms of the society, 338 Hillyer Trust building, Dr. Fealy will deliver a lecture Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock on the "Second Principles of Healing," leaving directly afterward to return to his home in Madison.

TO STOP HAIR LOSS AND RID YOUR SCALP OF DANDRUFF, USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Do you have dandruff? Does your hair fall out? Is it getting thinner and the parting more pronounced every day? If so, we advise you to get busy right away or before it is too late.

We are not trying to scare you. We are simply telling you the truth. If you would ward off impending baldness you must check that hair loss and rid your scalp of dandruff.

Don't resort to the use of an untried, off brand hair preparation when genuine Herpicide costs no more. You are liable to disappointment if you experiment. Start right and start now with the right remedy and stick to it—Newbro's Herpicide.

Use Herpicide daily for a while, then three times a week will be sufficient. Watch the change which takes place in the condition of your hair and scalp. The scalp is clean and free from dandruff. The hair looks strong and healthy and does not fall out. There is vigor and snap where before the hair was dead, dull and brittle. The itching which is so annoying stops and you enjoy a feeling of coolness and cleanliness hitherto unknown.

Any dealer will sell you Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes and guarantee it. If it doesn't do as promised, if you are not satisfied he returns your money. But you'll be satisfied. The first application will convince you that Newbro's Herpicide is the very thing for the hair. Its odor is delightful.

Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Woman's Beauty is Based on Health

To Have Health, Bowel Movement is Absolutely Necessary---How Best to Obtain it

MRS. JENNIE SNEDEKER.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headache, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But, whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly. Mrs. Jennie Snedeker, 1041 West Monroe St., Chicago, testifies that she is "cured of grave stomach and bowel troubles by using Syrup Pepsin and without the aid of a doctor or any other medicine." All the family can use Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact, to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-tonic in American today and thousands of families are now never without it.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

METHODISTS WILL BUY GIRLS' SCHOOL

Proposed to Make LaGrange College a Branch of Wesleyan.

$50,000 Will Be Spent on Improvements and Additional Land Bought for New Buildings.

Macon, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—Plans of the trustees of Wesleyan Female college for the purchase of the LaGrange Female college have been completed and the deal has been practicallyclosed. Fifty thousand dollars will be spent on improvements, and the LaGrange college will be opened under the new management next fall as the LaGrange Wesleyan Female college.

Professor W. R. Smith, for the past twenty-seven years president, will remain with the institution as president emeritus. C. R. Jenkins, president of Wesleyan at Macon, will be president of the two institutions.

Negotiations have been under way for three months, and President C. R. Jenkins spent several days at LaGrange last week closing up the details of the transaction.

The LaGrange college has three handsome buildings and fifteen acres. Additional land will be acquired adjacent to this site to provide for new buildings.

The college has been leased for a number of years from the North Georgia conference by President Smith, and is one of the best known institutions in the state. It will have the same curriculum as Wesleyan at Macon, but special courses of study will be had at both colleges, the one to work in collaboration with the other.

Immediate Improvements.

LaGrange, Ga., February 4.—(Special.)—A deal is on which if consummated will mean the spending of $50,000 immediately on the property of the LaGrange Female college, which is one of the oldest female colleges in the world. It is anticipated that the matter will be closed some time Wednesday. It is proposed that the LaGrange Female college property, the furnishings and a ninety-nine-year lease on the property shall be purchased by the North Georgia and South Georgia conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the school made the preparatory school of Wesleyan University for Women at Macon.

At present the school is under the care of the Methodist church, but Professor Rufus Smith, the president, owns the furnishings of the institution and also a ninety-nine year lease on the school property, which lease has only run some twenty-seven years.

Last Sunday, Rev. John S. Jenkins, president of Wesleyan, and Rev. W. N. Ainsworth, former president, one of them representing the North Georgia conference and the other the South Georgia conference, visited LaGrange and spent the day at the college with Professor Smith, at which time the tentative details of the agreement were reached. If the proposed plan is consummated it will carry two essential features, the assurance of connection for life with the institution of Professor Smith and, second, the spending of $50,000 in remodeling and enlarging of the property. It is proposed that the school shall be preparatory to Wesleyan and that graduates from this school shall be able to enter the junior class of Wesleyan.

HOP CORNER FAILED AND HE SUES ROADS

New York, February 4.—The failure of an attempt in London more than six years ago to corner the American hop market was recorded in the supreme court today by counsel for the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company in a petition asking for a bill of particulars in the suit brought against it by Paul R. G. Horst, known as the Oregon "hop king." Mr. Horst is suing the company and the Southern Pacific railroad to recover nearly $30,000 for alleged loss of fifteen shipments of hops from Oregon to New York in 1906 and damages incidental to delay in moving certain other shipments.

Counsel for the Oregon company declared the suit was the outgrowth of an attempt made by Horst to corner the market in London. Horst, the lawyer said, bought hops, held and stored them, waiting for the prices to go up. Instead, the lawyer said, the market got away from him, and finally concluded the transportation companies were responsible.

The court granted a petition for a statement of particulars.

NEW YORK BOOTBLACK IN ROCKEFELLER TRUST

New York, February 4.—Leonard Bolpe, a bootblack, who shines shoes in the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway, offered seven shares of Standard Oil stock as bail for a friend arraigned in police court tonight for alleged larceny. When Magistrate Corrigan was musing whether to accept some Staten Island real estate as security, Bolpe stepped forward.

"I have a few shares of Standard Oil stock, your honor, if you care to accept them for bail," he said as he produced the seven certificates.

Magistrate Corrigan accepted the Staten Island real estate as sufficient security.

MOTION PICTURE FILMS NOT FOR PUBLIC GOOD

New York, February 4.—The distribution of motion picture films is not a utility which might further the public good—therefore the Greater New York Film Rental company cannot compel the Motion Picture Patents company to supply it with films. Supreme Court Justice McCall so ruled today.

"In matters closely touching upon the public interest," reads his decision, "monopoly of trade to the exclusion of one whose service might further the public good may be regulated or restrained, but the subject of this action—the distribution of motion picture films—is not within this class of public utilities."

CITY NEWS

Slaton Will Lecture.—Professor William M. Slaton will deliver a lecture this evening to the Jewish Alliance on Capitol avenue. Mr. Slaton's subject will be, "Our Public School System." As Atlanta's school system came in for some criticism recently, what Mr. Slaton will have to say will probably be of much interest. The alliance has a lecture every Wednesday evening from prominent citizens on topics of local interest. The lectures are free to the public.

Meeting at Tabernacle.—The city is being thoroughly placarded and great efforts are being put forth to advertise the monster mass meeting for men at the Tabernacle Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, which is under the auspices of the National Laymen's Missionary Movement, which convenes in Atlanta on that date. The mass meeting for men will be the opening session of the convention, although all of the visiting speakers will fill certain pulpits for the Sunday morning church services.

SENATORIAL DEADLOCK IN WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., February 4.—The house and senate of the West Virginia legislature took separate ballots today on a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Clarence W. Watson, democrat, incumbent. Fifteen republicans and three democrats received votes.

Senator Watson was given 45 of the total 48 democratic votes, while the total 68 republican votes were widely scattered, the three leading candidates being Davis Elkins, Isaac T. Mann and William Seymour Edwards.

Of the 116 members of the legislature all but two casts ballots today. Both a republican and democrat were absent. The senate and house will assemble in joint session tomorrow. Fifty-nine votes are necessary to a choice.

GARRISON DAVIS HERE ON WAY TO HIS TRIAL

In the custody of a South Carolina officer of the law, Garrison R. Davis, the middle-aged man arrested Monday in Rome on land swindling charges, is expected to arrive in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon. He will be taken to Sumter, S. C., to face trial for securing loans fraudulently on farm lands from the Bank of Sumter. Charges are also held against him in Orlando, Fla. He will probably spend Wednesday night in the Fulton county Tower, leaving Thursday to continue the trip to South Carolina with the officer.

PARTNERS IN A PACT TO LEAVE $1,000,000

New York, February 4.—With the filing today of the will of George W. Crossman, of the coffee importing firm of Crossman & Sielcken, it became known that the two partners several years ago had entered into an agreement by which each should bequeath $1,000,000 to the other. The fact of the agreement was mentioned in a codicil to the will, which a second codicil says a new agreement supplanted. By his will, however, Mr. Crossman left $1,000,000 to Herman Sielcken, his business partner, and nearly $1,000,000 more to relatives and friends.

SLIDING TO HOME PLATE WHITE BREAKS A LEG

Santa Barbara, Cal., February 4.—Stewart Edward White, the author and explorer, broke a leg while sliding for the home plate in a ball game here today. Among the players in the game was Winston Churchill, recently progressive candidate for governor of New Hampshire.

SUFFRAGETTES ASK TAFT TO GIVE THEM A GUARD

Washington, February 4.—Three woman suffrage leaders successfully ran the gauntlet of doorkeepers at the white house today and confronted President Taft with their request for a guard of soldiers, sailors and marines for their big parade here March 3, and granting of a half holiday to women employees in government departments.

The president promised to discuss the question with his cabinet.

Cardinal Nagl Dead.

Vienna, February 4.—Cardinal Franz X. Nagl, archbishop of Vienna, died here today. He was created cardinal at the consistory of November 27, 1911, and received his red hat from the pope in December, 1912.

Jersey for Income Tax.

Trenton, N. J., February 4.—The New Jersey senate today, by a vote of 12 to 9, ratified the amendment to the constitution of the United States authorizing congress to impose an income tax. The house had previously ratified the amendment.

ARMY AVIATION SCHOOL PROPOSED FOR FLORIDA

Palm Beach, Fla., February 4.—Two officers of the United States army, accompanied by a detail of six men of the signal corps, today began the work of establishing an army aviation school here. The officers are Lieutenant F. M. Call, of the coast artillery, and Lieutenant E. L. Ellington, of the cavalry service. Their camp is being pitched beside Lake Worth and is expected to be ready for operations by next week.

COAST LINE COUNSEL INJURED IN RUNAWAY

Pittsburg, Va., February 4.—Alexander Hamilton, vice-president and chief counsel of the Atlantic Coast Line railway, in a runaway accident here this evening suffered a fractured collar-bone. Driving with his daughter, Mr. Hamilton was thrown from his carriage. Miss Hamilton also was slightly injured. They were removed to their home here after the accident.

CONVICTS ENTERTAIN TENNESSEE SOLONS

Nashville, Tenn., February 4.—For the first time in the history of the state, the members of the general assembly were tonight the guests of the inmates of the state prison, who gave a minstrel show in their honor. The convicts are lobbying for the enactment of a conditional pardon or parole law.

A quartet, composed of two highway robbers and two murderers, gave a number of vocal selections. An eight-piece orchestra furnished music and twenty-three negro prisoners were in the cast.

Mississippi After Hines.

Jackson, Miss., February 4.—The case of the state of Mississippi v. The Edward Hines Lumber company, of Chicago, has been set for trial at Poplarville for Thursday. The state alleges that the lumber company, with subsidiary concerns, owns more than the $2,000,000 worth of timber lands allowed one individual or concern, and asks a forfeiture of lands in excess of that sum.

LIED ON SENATORS TO AID HIS FRIEND

Shock Confesses That His Charges Against Chilton and Watson Are False.

Washington, February 4.—Despite the fact that the author of the principal charges of corruption in the election of Senators Watson and Chilton, of West Virginia, today withdrew his allegations, the senate elections committee may proceed to an investigation.

This was because both senators today submitted to the committee a statement in their defense, instead of presenting it to the senate. The committee holds that if it considers the explanation of the two senators it must also hear any statements on the other side, while if they make their statements to the senate, it can decide whether to order further consideration.

After considering the case today the committee recessed until Saturday to await the action of the two senators, who expressed themselves as undecided on what course to pursue.

L. G. Shock, a member of the West Virginia house of delegates, who had made a statement that he had been paid $1,000 and offered more to vote for Watson and Chilton, today presented to the committee a statement that his declaration was an effort to advance the candidacy of John McGraw, a rival to Senator Watson. His statement had been included in a petition for investigation filed with Governor Glasscock and other West Virginians.

Both West Virginia senators presented the committee with a complete denial of the charges which they branded as absurd.

Confession Caused Sensation.

Charleston, W. Va., February 4.—A sensation was created in the house of delegates today when a telegram, purporting to have been sent by L. J. Shock to United States Senator Clarence W. Watson, was read on the floor. The telegram declared that Shock, who had been a member of the house of delegates in 1911, when Watson and William E. Chilton were elected senators, framed up the story that he had received a sum of money for voting for them in the belief that it would help the cause of John McGraw, whom he wanted elected.

"BLUE LAW" IS USED TO ESCAPE AD BILL

St. Louis, Mo., February 4.—The St. Louis court of appeals today refused to apply the Missouri "blue law" to save a local merchant from paying for an advertisement in a Sunday newspaper.

The merchant sought exemption from the debt on the plea that the publication of a newswaper on Sunday was a violation of the Sunday law.

The court of appeals ruled that as the merchant was a party to the contract for publication of his advertisement on Sunday, he could not invoke the Sunday law to obtain release from payment.

A similar case before the Kansas City court of appeals was decided in favor of the advertiser and the subject will be taken to the state supreme court for determination.

BARRETT IS PUSHED FOR CABINET PLACE

Washington, February 4.—If Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' union, is not invited into the cabinet of President Wilson it will not be the fault of his friends who are officers of the Farmers' union.

Several of the national officers are here actively buttonholing statesmen in Barrett's interest. They have made two visits to Trenton to see the next president and urge Mr. Barrett's claims for consideration.

R. F. Duckworth, who is scheduled for appointment as postmaster at Union City, was a visitor at the capital today.

WIFE AND SON DEAD, BUT HE DOESN'T KNOW

New Brunswick, N. J., February 4.—Lying seriously ill from the effects of an operation in a hospital tonight, the Rev. Isaac S. Scheneck, a retired minister of Highlands Park, N. J., has not been told that a son, Willard, a student at Rutgers college, died yesterday, and that his wife, shocked by this happening, passed away today. Physicians feared that news of the two deaths would result fatally for the clergyman.

Workmen Are Crushed.

Detroit, Mich., February 4.—Three men were killed and six seriously injured late today when a ten-ton watergate dropped into a trench, where the men were working at Charlevoix and Garland avenues. The injured men were all taken to a hospital and several may die. The dead include Andrew Ryan, foreman. Nearly all of the other victims were foreign laborers.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON RALLIED IN THE AFTERNOON

During Morning There Was Scattered Realizing by Recent Buyers.

New York, February 4.—Cotton futures were quiet today and fluctuated within a range of 9 or 10 points, with the close steady and from 5 to 8 points net higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points, in sympathy with better cables than looked for, but the steady showing abroad failed to inspire any important demand here and prices soon turned easier. Scattered realizing by recent buyers made its appearance through commission houses, and this, combined with the absence of support, probably promoted local pressure. After showing a net loss of a point or two, however, the market improved and closing prices were at practically the best.

Prominent spot house brokers were moderate, but steady buyers of July during the day and the demand from this source probably helped the afternoon rally. Then there was also some buying by people with southern mill connections and covering by scattered early sellers.

Private cables from Liverpool reported a very quiet market there and the English steadiness, in the face of renewed war in the Balkans, was emphasized by local bulls as reflecting a favorable Manchester situation and reduced estimates of the East Indian crop.

With New Orleans closed, very little news or business reached here from the south and, generally speaking, there appeared nothing in the day's developments to attract more than passing attention around the ring.

Fall River reports a less active demand for goods than toward the end of last week, but narrow print cloths are said to be steadier and advances are reported in certain lines of ginghams.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.95; do. gulf 13.20; no sales.

Dry Goods.

New York, February 4.—The cotton goods markets are firm with business of moderate proportions. Fancy worsteds for fall men's wear will be opened this week. Jobbers report a good house trade.

Liverpool Cotton.

Liverpool, February 4.—Closing: Cotton spot in fair demand; prices higher; American middling fair, 7.38; good middling, 7.06; middling, 6.84; low middling, 6.66; good ordinary, 6.26; ordinary, 5.92. Sales, 10,000 bales, including 1,000 for speculation and export and 9,900 American. Receipts, 42,200 bales, all American. Futures opened quiet and closed dull.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, February 4.—Cotton seed oil advanced early on the strength in lard and crude, buying by the west and south and covering. Realizing caused a slight setback, but the undertone was firm, closing 4 to 9 points net higher. Sales 16,000 barrels.

Prime crude, 5.20@5.35; prime summer yellow, spot, 6.30@6.36; February, 6.31; March, 6.32; April, 6.35; June, 6.35; July, August and September, 6.43; prime winter yellow, 6.40@7.00; prime summer white, 6.45@7.00.

Futures ranged as follows:

	Opening.	Closing.
February	6.28@6.35	6.34@6.36
March	6.29@6.32	6.32@6.34
April	6.28@6.32	6.32@6.34

Closed steady; sales, 1,600 barrels.

Memphis, February 4.—Cotton seed products, prime basis: Oil, 5.34@5.37; meal, $25@25.25; linters, 3½@4¼.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, February 4.—Under moderate buying for trade account, and an absence of aggressive selling, prices in the local market today have maintained some improvement. While general business continues very limited, the buying of spot interests at this level is equal to the liquidation on the part of Wall street interests. The market at present, so far as general interest is concerned, seems to be awaiting new incentive for a decided trend either way. A feature in its favor, however, is the fact that a great deal of weakly held cotton has been liquidated.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, February 4.—It was a very dull market again today, but there was a better undertone and there are many who believe that a market that will not decline when it is dull is on the eve of an advance. No attention was paid to the renewal of fighting in front of Constantinople and there was little cotton for sale. The close was steady at an advance of five to nine points.

Liverpool is due to come two points up.

Foreign Finances.

London, February 4.—Bullion amounting to £146,000 was taken into the Bank of England on balance today.

Paris, February 4.—Three per cent rentes, 88 francs 87½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 21½ centimes for checks. Private rate of discount, 4 per cent.

Berlin, February 4.—Exchange on London, 20 marks 48½ pfennigs for checks. Money, 5 per cent. Private discount rate, 5 per cent.

Groceries.

St. Louis, February 4.—Flour dull. Hay steady; timothy, $12.50@17.00; prairie, $10.50@13.00.

New York, February 4.—Flour steady.

Cincinnati, February 4.—Flour steady.

FINAL ARGUMENT TODAY IN MILEAGE-PULLING CASE

With the windup of the railroad's argument in the mileage-pulling case this morning, three speeches will be delivered for the defendants and the hearing for a permanent injunction will leave the superior court for the supreme court.

The shortened time of the trial is due to the roads agreeing, through their attorneys, to base their case in the lower court on the results of one suit, which is the Louisville and Nashville's petition, the first one to be tried.

Attorney Robert Alston is expected to make the final speech for the plaintiffs today, while Judge J. K. Hines, special attorney for the railroad commission, and Attorneys Walter McElreath and James L. Mayson, representing the traveling men, will conclude the argument.

BRAKEMAN SUES ROAD FOR $15,000 DAMAGES

Claiming that he was severely injured when a handhold on a freight car broke loose and threw him to the ground, R. R. Pitts, of Jefferson county, Alabama, brought suit yesterday afternoon against the Southern Railway company for $15,000 in the superior court.

Pitts says that on August 19, 1912, he was employed by the road as a brakeman, and was performing his duties on the car. He alleges that there was no bolt to secure the handhold, and that the timber to which it was fastened by a screw was decayed, allowing the screw to slip out. His suit was filed by Attorney R. R. Arnold.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 4.—Although Liverpool did not maintain itself upon the wide premium over this market at the close of business, there was a rather better tone here all day and the market finally closed out seven points higher. Again the half-weekly movement at Bombay shows a falling off this time of 12,000 bales. Our traders who have felt the liquidation of the last week are hearing of a rather better inquiry for spots in the south and they do not like the reports from India nor the falling off in the receipts. Of course, we can see that there is no active speculation for an advance, but each day the spindles are all working at the largest consumption ever known and all calculations of value have been influenced by a large crop in India.

WHEAT ADVANCED; CLOSE WAS FIRM

Resumption of Hostilities in Turkey Main Factor in Advance.

Chicago, February 4.—Wheat advanced today, chiefly impelled by the reopening of hostilities against the Turks. Closing prices were firm, 1-4 to 1-2@5-8c above last night. Latest trading left corn 7-8@1 to 1@1 1-8c net higher; oats up 1-2 to 1-2@5-8 and provisions increased in cost 7 1-2@10 to 22 1-2c.

In addition to war news, aid for the bulls in wheat came from India, where the drought was said to be withering crops throughout the united province. Encouragement developed also from the activity of Canadian exporters, although nothing was being done in regard to foreign shipment of supplies grown in the United States. An important factor in lifting wheat was the strength shown by corn. The latter cereal had a decided upward tendency, due to a beggarly crop outlook in Argentina, compared with the magnificent season before. Buyers of wheat showed caution, however, in view of a big increase of the world's available stock and because of rumors of the shutting down of flour mills at Minneapolis.

Brokers for one of the largest houses on 'change led a vigorously campaign to raise the quotations for corn. Opinion in some quarters leaned to the idea that the purpose of this action was to force a widely scattered short interest to cover. Most of the sellers who were conspicuous yesterday were compelled to rely on advice and there was lively option purchasing, too, by leading cash concerns.

Oats rose in sympathy with corn, but without a corresponding increase in activity.

Provisions turned upward, in consequence of the run of hogs west being lighter than expected. The only offers were from the big packers.

New York, February 4.—Coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 2 to 12 points, under realizing and scattering pressure, inspired by disappointing European cables and reports that Santos firms were taking a more optimistic view of the coming crop. Bull supports and covering of near months caused quite a sharp rally during the middle of the day, but the market eased off again better under liquidation and Wall street selling, which may have been inspired by reports that the Norris bill had passed the senate. The close was easy, net unchanged to 11 points lower. Sales, 74,000.

GUNS OF ALLIES PLAY ON TURKS

No Sortie Attempted by the Turks. Fighting Also in Front of Constantinople.

London, February 4.—The Turks remain on the defensive at Tchatalja and Adrianople. The Adrianople fortress replies only feebly to the Bulgarian bombardment, and apparently no attempt has been made in the way of a sortie.

The Turkish newspaper, Tanin, asserts that Adrianople has sufficient provisions for four months, and other Turkish reports declare that the fortress certainly will be able to hold out for several weeks.

Official quarters in Constantinople breathe a spirit of great confidence in the new regime, and declare the condition of the country and the wintry weather preclude serious operations along the Tchatalja lines for the present.

Should it turn out that Adrianople can resist for any considerable time, diplomatic negotiations are likely to remain at a standstill, although in the European capitals a settlement by diplomacy rather than by arms is still hoped for.

Long Defense Expected.

Military men who know something about the several lines of forts which form the defenses of Adrianople—for the outer ring which the besiegers have been facing since the war began is connected with and supported by other circles of defense just as strong—look for a prolonged defense by the besieged garrison.

This decision apparently prevails within Adrianople itself. Otherwise the foreign consuls there would have considered it necessary to ask their ambassadors to secure an escort for the foreign residents of the city who desire to pass through the lines or protection for those who remain within the gates.

Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander who is defending Adrianople, is one of the most determined officers of the Ottoman army. He has declared that he will not surrender the fortress until the last of his soldiers have been killed.

Shukri Pasha still has some 40,000 men, a number of which is considered quite sufficient to man the forts and hold at bay the much greater besieging force.

The Bulgarians are said to have 550,000 men in the province of Thrace, with 45,000 Servians and a few divisians of Greeks assisting them. The greater part of this force is compelled to remain in front of Tchatalja and at Gallipolis in order to hold the Turkish armies concentrated at these places.

BULGARS WANT THE TURKS TO ASSUME THE OFFENSIVE

Constantinople, February 4.—The Bulgarians, according to reports received tonight, are retiring from the burning village of Tchatalja, especially on the left wing. This is regarded as a strategical movement, possibly with the idea of drawing the Turks into the offensive.

The belief is held among military experts here that no serious operations are to be expected at Tchatalja for the present. The condition of the southern portion of the zone between the lines of the belligerants is such as to render the movement of men impossible. It is little better than a morass. Only on the higher ground, in the northern region, can the armies come into contact, and it seems improbable that either side will indulge in an attack in force.

It is supposed that the Bulgarians denounced the armistice less on account of the failure of negotiations than because they expected Adrianople would be obliged to surrender within a few days, and an armistice still in operation might have embarrassed their liberty of action.

According to the best information here, the fortress will be able to resist for a long time. Much is expected by competent observers of the new blood, which now is at the head of both military and civil administrations, burning to avenge the earlier defeats, and the enterprise and daring of men like Enver Bey, now for the first time given a chance, it is believed, may surprise the allies.

The new grand vizier, Mahmoud Schefkat Pasha, already is showing the organizing qualities which won him renown, and gives many hours a day to superintending in person the military arrangements.

He Killed Son-in Law.

Lenoir, N. C. February 4.—W. T. Jackson, a well-known, farmer, residing ten miles from here had a difficulty with his son-in-law, William Thomas, this morning and struck him over the head with a stick of wood, fracturing the skull, the latter dying instantly. Thomas was a mineralogist, had only recently come to this section. Jackson immediately surrendered to the sheriff.

FEMININE BEAUTY FEATURES BIG WEBER AND FIELDS SHOW

Judged solely from the viewpoint of feminine loveliness superbly gowned—and that's the only way one can judge it—Weber & Fields' "Hokey Pokey," which was presented at the Atlanta theater last night, in the presence of the largest audience of this playhouse's career, proved a glittering success.

Never before in the history of an Atlanta theater has such an aggregation of good looking girls been seen. And all times the stage was chock full of them—girls of all kinds and descriptions. There were scores of statuesque brunettes, coveys of petite blonds, dozens of middle-sized ones of indeterminate complexion, and, miracle of miracles, they were all young!

And gowns! But to describe them would be impossible. Yards and yards of brilliant-hued silks, miles—it seemed—of shimmering satins made up in the most fetching fashions imaginable shimmered and shone until the eye was dazzled and the senses bathed in a riot of beautiful color.

From time when the memory of man runs not to the contrary, it has been the habit of Atlanta audiences to sigh regretfully and deplore the fact that good-looking chorus girls do not find their way this far south. Not one in last night's audience could have found fault on this score, no matter what his criticism of the show on other counts might have been.

There was, too, a zest and enthusiasm, attributes of youth, and cannot be simulated, about the work of the chorus, which proved gratifying. They seemed to enjoy every moment they were on the stage fully as much as did the large audience.

The performance was one of those typically Weber-Fieldian shows, with which many of Atlanta's theater-goers who know New York are familiar.

It is made up of more or less negligible music, plenty of dancing and that peculiar brand of humor which made Weber and Fields famous over a generation ago—humor of the obvious rather than the delicate sort.

Several scenes between the two stars, notably the "Dying Gladiators," were very funny, and provoked screams of laughter.

Bessie Clayton, the dancer, was the real hit of the show. Her appearance on the stage in one of the most attractive costumes imaginable—black waist and trunks and white tights—was the signal for enthusiastic applause. Her toe dancing was artistic in the extreme, and she was given repeated encores.

Flavia Arcaro, who takes the part created by Lillian Russell in the New York performance, is an extremely handsome woman, whose stunning gowns caused little gasps of admiration from the feminine part of the audience.

May Boley was one of the hits of the show. Her moving picture stunt with Frank Daniels was very humorous. Her "Milestones" song was beautifully costumed, and was enthusiastically greeted.

The audience, as stated, was the largest in the history of the theater. The lower floor and the balcony were sold out.

There will be a matinee this afternoon and the concluding performance tonight.

SIDNEY ORMOND.

BESSIE CLAYTON,
Clever dancer with Weber & Fields' show.

Keith Vaudville.
(At the Grand.)

Twice on Tuesday the big Grand was crowded to about its limit of capacity. And for the rest of the week the advance sale suggests that this condition will continue. The bill that is headed by ever-popular Little Chip and Mary Marble is far superior to any offering of the season. The headline feature for next week will be Miss Percy Haswell and company, who will take the place of Mlle. Dazie, who recently met with an accident.

Tabloid Musical Company.
(At the Forsyth.)

Max Bloom and his merry "Sunny Side of Broadway" company score a big hit at the Forsyth, drawing three big audiences on Tuesday. The show is the best at the price that has ever been seen in Atlanta, and it is nearly the equal of some of the attractions that have commanded higher prices. Max Bloom is a splendid comedian; he has excellent support and the sextette of girls who make his chorus are very attractive.

Norman Hackett.
(At the Lyric.)

Norman Hackett could hardly have selected a play that would give him greater opportunity for the display of his versatile talent than "Satan Sanderson," in which he is appearing this week at the Lyric. The play, which is a dramatization of Hallie Erminie Rives' novel, is gripping in its interest as well as unusual in its plot and holds the attention of the audience up to the final curtain. The support to their many is good.

KILBANE BESTS YOUNG DRISCOLL

The Featherweight Champion Had the Better of Every Round.

New York, February 4.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight champion, outpointed Young Driscoll, of Brooklyn, in a ten-round bout here tonight.

Kilbane had the better of every round, hooking lefts and rights to the head, with an occasional uppercut and short-arm blows to the body.

For the first three rounds Kilbane scarcely closed his gloves, but as the fight went on he hooked many a hard blow to the head. The best that could be said of Driscoll was that he was game and tried to fight back every inch of the way. Kilbane missed several left and right hooks to the head and also misjudged a few right uppercuts. He forced the pace from the third round on, however, did not receive a damaging blow in return and the bout was easily his from beginning to end.

Kilbane weighed 126½ and Driscoll 124½.

FUND FOR THE RELIEF OF THE CONGREGATIONS

Paris, February 4.—The French government soon will introduce a bill in parliament supplementing the congregations act of 1910. The bill will establish a common fund, from which relief may be granted to members of the religious congregations, the liquidation of whose property has failed to realize a sufficient sum of money for their adequate support.

The bill also will define conditions under which members of the suppressed congregations may be granted permission to reside in France, and provides for the manner of distribution of any surplus among the national charitable institutions and schools.

PEACHTREE ROAD PARK LOTS IN DEMAND

Georgia Land and Investment Company's New Subdivision, "Out Peachtree," in the Brookhaven District, Proves Popular.

Superb Location—Low Prices Easy Terms

PEACHTRE ROAD PARK is the name of a new subdivision, owned by Georgia Land and Investment Co., 60½ North Broad street, Atlanta, Ga., which is located just off PEACHTREE ROAD, in the Brookhaven district. Lots in this new subdivision are being sold at $275 to $475 each, upon very liberal terms; i.e., a small cash payment and $10 per month. Free taxes are guaranteed each purchaser until deeds have been issued and delivered. Most of the lots are elevated and covered with beautiful shade trees. It is said the car line will be extended in the near future out PEACHTREE ROAD to the SILVER LAKE PROPERTIES, where the OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY site is located; this will mean a car line in front of PEACHTREE ROAD PARK. At the present time the car line terminates a short distance this side. In view of the big improvements in this section making the location ideal for residences, the ridiculously low price at which these lots are offered there is no better investment for the home-seeker and investor than PEACHTREE ROAD PARK LOTS.

The GEORGIA LAND AND INVESTMENT CO. invites interested parties to call at its office, 60½ North Broad street, for descriptive literature, or to phone them, Ivy 5522, and make an engagement to go out and personally inspect the property.
